

It's amazing what a kid can learn from Kids.gov.

Poet. Composes symphonies. Travels back in time to do research for his book reports.

Ski jumps in the Olympics. Catches salmon in Alaska. Encourages classmates to volunteer.

Published author. Trekked the Appalachian Trail. Took a tour with Benjamin Franklin.

Recreates Picassos. Tutors high schoolers in history. Favorite memory: walking on the moon.

Reconstructs animals from prehistoric fossils. Can identify counterfeit money. Started a recycling club at school.

Studies marine biology. Explores every city in Europe. Breaks top secret codes.

Diagnoses medical diseases. Challenges kids around the world to math games.

Teaches using lesson plans from Kids.gov. Led class through the Underground Railroad.

Kids.gov lets your kids explore the world — and all from a front row seat. It's the trusted government site with more than 1,300 safe, kid-friendly web pages to discover. Take a trip to the moon one day. Join an archaeological dig the next. Kids will have fun learning about the world without going any farther than their computer.

The Official Kids' Portal for the U.S. Government

