

ORDER FOR RELIEF IN AN INVOLUNTARY CASE

It is contemplated that the clerk, will prepare the order for relief. Form 253 is designed for use in involuntary cases. In voluntary cases, the filing of the petition acts as the order for relief. 11 U.S.C. § 301. Similarly, an order of conversion acts as the order for relief under the new chapter. 11 U.S.C. § 348.

If the defendant to an involuntary petition does not answer or make a motion pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 1011 within 20 days after the summons is served, or within such time as court may fix, section 303(h) of the Bankruptcy Code (11 U.S.C. § 303(h)) provides that the court shall enter an order for relief.

If the debtor timely files an answer or a motion under Rule 1011, section 303(h) requires that a trial be held to determine whether an order for relief is warranted. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 1013 provides that: “(t)he court shall determine the issues of a contested petition at the earliest practicable time and forthwith enter an order for relief, dismiss the petition, or enter any other appropriate order.”
