

Explosives Detection 2009 Symposium and Workshop

October 20-23 | San Diego, CA

This international symposium and workshop provides a venue for U.S. and allied governments, academia, and industry to share information, develop partnerships, advance technology, provide first responder training, and demonstrate capabilities in the area of explosives detection. Participants include: first responders, government sponsors, and policy and standards setting organizations from the federal, state, local, and military agencies.

Applications to exhibit are now being accepted. Exhibitor set-up is October 19th, 2009. We are also soliciting submissions for posters that highlight current projects in the area of explosives detection. If you are interested in displaying a poster, please submit an abstract to detection\_conference09@bah.com. Conference attendance is expected to exceed 500 people.
