Learn how you can tap into the nation's two billion dollar R&D funding resource!

At the Spring 2007 SBIR/STTR National Conference, you will learn how to competitively apply for and be awarded some of the $2.2 billion in Federal grants and contracts.

The SBIR program funds high-risk projects at the earliest stages of technology development, before companies can attract venture capital. Receive assistance from the development phase to actual commercialization of your technology.

Flexible multi-track sessions allow you to choose the topics of most importance to the current state of your business. Learn from all eleven Federal agencies that fund SBIR/STTR. Networking and one-on-one meetings will help you determine which agency is a good fit for your business.
