

Curtis J. Knapper

Mr. Knapper is the Director of Engineering at Clean Diesel Technologies in Stamford CT. and is responsible for product development and implementation.

He has been involved in SCR technology development for the last 10 years as well as other emission reducing technologies. He has been involved with numerous, on-road, off road, and stationary emission control projects.

Mr. Knapper holds several patents within Clean Diesel including the single fluid injector used for urea injection.

Curtis has a US Coast Guard Chief Engineers License for unlimited HP Steam and Motor Vessels.

Mr. Knapper is a graduate of the United States Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point New York.

He has worked the Naval Sea Systems Command, in Washington DC and was involved in the design and development of U.S. Navy combat vessels. Mr. Knapper has also been involved with various Utility Company energy conservation programs.