SUMMARY:

Ms. Andrews is Assistant National Program Leader, Fibers and Materials. She is based in New Orleans and on detail to Beltsville, MD. Her laboratory conducts research related to the utilization of cotton fibers. She was interested in learning of recent CPSC activities in the field of fabric flammability and how these activities might affect their future research projects.

CPSC staff described current activities with mattresses and bedding, children's sleepwear, and upholstered furniture.

No specific areas for potential research were identified.

Ms. Andrews would appreciate being kept informed of the progress of CPSC projects.
