

Dear Secretary Clark,

As a retired union sheet metal worker I have just finished reading in our journal, that the Federal Trade Commission has drafted a proposal that would allow the Made in the U.S.A. Label to be attached to products "substantially" made here. This would amount to a Big Rip Off to people like myself, who spend time and money trying to find items marked Made In U.S.A.

I hope the Federal Trade Commission does not take this symbol of American pride and turn it into just another corporate logo.

The Label should mean exactly what it says Made in the U.S.A.

Sincerely

Ralph Westby
