I believe changing the percentage from 100% to 75% gives the USA made companys a fighting chance with the companys who buy all there materials and labor over seas. I also believe it will help bring some of the companys and work back to the US.. This change will also still give the companys who make there products here in the USA (100% material and labor) to actually say that on there tag. I for one did not know that a tag said made in the USA meant all materials and labor were done here in the US.. Thank you for your time.
