

The University of North Texas
Annual Black Student Leadership Conference
“Empowerment through Education: Leadership at All Levels”
April 4th, 2009 • University Union • Denton, Texas

To Whom It May Concern:

The University of North Texas is hosting its 1st Annual Black Student Leadership Conference on Saturday, April 4th, 2009 from 8:00am-5:00pm in the University Union. The UNT Black Student Leadership Conference is specifically designed to assess the needs and goals of Black student leaders in relation to educational advancement and networking outlets. To that end, we are inviting you to participate in this endeavor as we work to enhance the leadership skills of students in the DFW area.

The conference will provide students with the basic and fundamental tools for recognizing and fostering leadership skills. The theme for this year’s conference is, “Empowerment through Education: Leadership at All Levels.” During the conference there will be opportunities for leadership development in the form of breakout sessions, special speakers and a networking luncheon.

Registration is $10.00 from now until the conference, payable by cash or money order. To receive additional registration forms please email us at unt.bsle@gmail.com. If you have further questions please contact Dantrayl Smith, Coordinator for Student Activities at 940.565.3807. We look forward to your participation!

Sincerely,
