

Guided Pathway
Junior and Senior Years
Bachelor of Applied Arts and Sciences

Effective Fall 2018

The Bachelor of Applied Arts and Sciences degree is tailored to the needs of each student. If you have completed an Associate of Applied Science degree at a community college, have military academic credits, or would like to complete a multidisciplinary degree upon transfer from a community college, please speak with an Applied Arts and Sciences advisor to select the best concentrations to achieve your academic and career goals. The plan below shows the general approach, with specific concentrations varying for each student. A full list of transfer plans can be found at the North Texas Community College Consortium AAS to BAAS site: <http://www.ntxccc.org/pathways>. Enter your community college, UNT, and your AAS specialization to see a sample pathway that might fit your needs. Each pathway can be modified in consultation with an Applied Arts and Sciences advisor.
