Careers Impacting the Nonprofit Sector

United Way Student Leaders (UWSL) exists to build a diverse community of professionals prepared to make a bold impact on the nonprofit world. UWSL formed partnerships with United Ways of Denton County, Metropolitan Dallas, and Tarrant County to build skills in students interested in a career in the nonprofit sector, while also serving United Way and their partner agencies.

We want nonprofits to think of UNT students first when hiring new recruits. Our students are top candidates for jobs because they are well rounded leaders who are passionate about their beliefs. Through UWSL association activities, service projects, and attending leadership retreats—whatever your major—you can gain the transferable skills nonprofit employers seek, and be a cut above the rest.

Benefits to Students

- Gain knowledge and skills in nonprofit competencies
- Network with nonprofit professionals and community leaders
- Create connections with a nationally recognized brand
- Obtain greater scholarship opportunities
- Serve on boards and committees
- Enjoy one-on-one support, career development, and mentoring
- Build lasting friendships

United Way Partners Include:

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH TEXAS®

College of Health and Public Service

Majors

	IVIAJORS
Audiology & Speech- Language Pathology*	The bachelor's degree is a pre-professional degree for persons wishing to pursue graduate study in speech-language pathology & audiology. The pre-professional program provides basic preparation in the normal development & functioning of speech, language, & hearing, & introductory courses concerned with communication disorders & appropriate remedial procedures. Satisfactory completion of the master's programs or the professional doctorate program enables individuals to meet the academic & clinical practicum requirements for ASHA's Certificate of Clinical Competence & the state of Texas license in speech-language pathology and/or audiology.
Behavior Analysis*	The program in applied behavior analysis is the only such program in Texas & among only a few in the nation. Autism, developmental disabilities, education, organizational behavior management, & animal behavior are examples of specific specialties in behavior analysis, but graduates can apply what they learn to almost any career area.
Criminal Justice*	One of the ten largest undergraduate programs at UNT, Criminal Justice features a nationally recognized faculty, most of whom have professional experience in the field. Students are prepared for challenging careers in public sector law enforcement, corrections, court-related employment, private sector loss prevention, & investigative work.
Emergency Administration & Planning* (EADP)	EADP is the premiere degree program in emergency management in the United States. Students learn about hazards and risk, and they develop skills to mitigate and respond to a variety of natural, technological, and civil disasters. The challenges of terrorism and homeland security make this an attractive degree for students and current professionals alike.
Nonprofit Leadership Studies *^	The Nonprofit Leadership Studies undergraduate degree is designed to prepare students for careers in functional areas of program & service delivery, general management, volunteer management, grants administration, advocacy, general finance, & fundraising. Students gain a competitive edge for positions in major nonprofits including United Way, The American Red Cross, The Humane Society, Habitat for Humanity, & other local organizations. Interested students will also be well positioned to pursue graduate work.
Public Health	The bachelor's degree in Public Health is a pre-professional degree designed to prepare students for a career in the health care industry. As professionals, they will be able to work with nonprofit organizations, hospitals, health departments, & other health-related fields & market areas. This undergraduate degree will also better prepare students wishing to pursue a graduate degree in Public Health.
Rehabilitation Studies*^	Rehabilitation professionals work in partnership with people with physical, mental, & addiction disabilities to live & participate as full members of their communities. Students develop practical skills that lead to self-determination, responsibility, & personal empowerment—both for themselves & for the people they serve.
Social Work	The Social Work program is a nationally accredited generalist BSW program that prepares professionals for practice working with children, & other disenfranchised & at-risk populations. Students who complete the program are immediately eligible for state licensure, & may qualify for advanced standing in graduate social work programs.
Urban Policy & Planning	This program is designed for students who are looking for opportunities to pursue professional careers in city & regional planning. Students will be ready for professional careers in city & regional government, state & federal government, private development, housing, transit, nonprofits, & more.

* also available as a minor
^certificate programs exist within program

	Minors
Addiction Studies	The Addiction Studies minor prepares students to become alcohol/drug abuse counselors, & is a great compliment to many social science majors. The certificate in Substance Use Disorder Treatment is designed for busy professionals already working in the field who want to upgrade their skills.
Alternative Dispute Resolution	Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) practice is a rapidly growing field that is seen as a preferred alternative to litigation & violence. In addition to the minor, the department offers an ADR certificate.
Applied Gerontology	The Applied Gerontology minor focuses on the processes of aging, changes in individuals as they age, how society affects & is affected by aging, & how current information & technology can be implemented to help care for the aging. UNT also offers an Undergraduate Certificate in Applied Gerontology.
Human Services	The Human Services minor prepares students to work in various human service agencies to help others achieve their maximum potential. There is a high demand for trained Human Service professionals in many settings, including non-profit agencies, State, or Federal agencies.
Public Administration	Public Administration offers a minor for undergraduate students. This minor strengthens many UNT degree programs by providing an overview of management & fiscal functions.
	Certificate Programs
Alternative Dispute Resolution	The Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) Certificate consists of 12 hours of coursework–9 hours of required courses, and 3 hours of required electives. These courses introduce students to formal negotiation practices & mediation, a type of facilitated negotiation. Students also have the opportunity to observe firsthand how these practices are used to settle real conflicts.
Dispute Resolution	The ADR Certificate is an excellent addition to your professional toolkit, whether your ultimate career goals are in law, business, criminal justice, education, or another field.
Volunteer & Community Resource Management	This is a 12-semester credit hours certificate program that is composed of full-length, for-credit college courses, and provides blended courses for more flexibility. It is endorsed by the Association for Volunteer Administration , the premier professional organization for volunteer and community-based leaders in the country. The certificate can be earned as a part of an 18-semester credit hours minor in Nonprofit Leadership Studies.
Substance Use Disorders Treatment	The undergraduate academic certificate in substance use treatment provides a basic foundation to help students prepare for licensure as a chemical dependency counselor (LCDC). Completion of the certificate also contributes to skills applicable in any human service field.

ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION MINOR

2019-2020 Catalog Year

The Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) program through the Department of Public Administration teaches students theories of conflict management and conflict resolution skills. Through courses in ADR students learn such procedures as arbitration, mediation, negotiation, neutral fact-finding, panel review, and other alternatives to litigation. Alternative dispute resolution practices continue to grow in the U.S. and throughout much of the world as preferred alternatives to litigation and violence. Employers value mastery of basic ADR competencies.

The Alternative Dispute Resolution program offers an interdisciplinary academic minor and an Undergraduate Academic Certificate. Alternative Dispute Resolution is also a concentration option in the College of Health and Public Service. In addition, the program awards two departmental certificates—the Basic Mediation Certificate and a certificate in Family Mediation—to students who fulfill established requirements.

Skill application for students with an Alternative Dispute Resolution minor or certificate:

- Court-ordered Mediation
- Knowledge of conflict management methods
- Effective communication skills
- Contract Negotiation

- Human Resource Management
- Complement to advanced degrees in law, counseling, or seminary

Substance Abuse & Addiction Studies

CERTIFICATE & MINOR

2019-2020 Catalog Year

The department of Rehabilitation and Health Services offers a minor in Addiction Studies and a certificate in Substance Use Disorder Treatment. The minor and the certificate both help students understand the nature and impact of substance abuse, and will provide the academic preparation needed for licensure as a Licensed Chemical Dependency Counselor (LCDC). The 18-hour minor complements degrees in anthropology, criminal justice, education, humanities, psychology, rehabilitation, sociology, and social work, among others. The 12-hour certificate can be earned as part of a bachelor's degree program, or alone as a professional certificate. Most human service professionals deal with substance abuse issues almost daily, and the need for training in this area is growing.

The main requirements for an LCDC are: six approved college-level courses; 300 hours of supervised field work; successful completion of written and oral exams; a written case history that conforms to TCADA guidelines; and 4,000 hours of supervised work experience. Those with a four-year degree in an approved discipline—such as Rehabilitation Studies or Psychology—may petition for a waiver of the 300 hours of required work experience.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES FOR LCDC's:

Schools

- Social welfare agencies
- Hospitals

• Outpatient programs

- Corrections agencies
- Private & group practices
- Residential facilities

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

The minor in Addiction Studies requires completion of RHAB 4075 & RHAB 4175, in addition to 4 other addictions classes. Students wishing to seek licensure as an LCDC should complete: RHAB 4075, 4175, 4500, 4675, 4375, and then choose one from: RHAB 3975, 4275, or 4575. For a certificate in Substance Use Disorder Treatment, four classes are required: RHAB 4075, 4175, 4500, and 4675.

RHAB 4075 - Drugs & Alcohol

Covers the physical and psychological effects of commonly abused substances such as: alcohol, cocaine, speed, heroin, & marijuana, as well as the underlying basis of addictions in biology, learning, & culture.

RHAB 4175 – Addiction Treatment Models

Treatment approaches such as 12-step programs, cognitive-behavioral counseling, relapse prevention, behavioral self-control, relapse prevention, behavioral self-control & motivational interviewing. (pre-requisite RHAB 4075)

RHAB 4500 - Assessment in Rehabilitation

Principles, techniques, & procedures used in the assessment process in rehabilitation, including assessments related to identification of issues of addiction, vocational assessments, & situational assessments.

RHAB 4675 - Addiction and Drug Abuse Competencies

Diagnosing, planning, & providing counseling, case management, crisis intervention, making client referrals, writing reports, & keeping records. (pre-requisite RHAB 4175)

RHAB 4375 – Addiction Counseling and Groups

Explains & offers practice with concepts & skills used in therapy groups for substance abusers.

RHAB 3975 - Addiction

Links addiction to individual & social welfare, criminality, & family life. Reviews the history & current practice of drug control & treatment.

RHAB 4275 – Alcohol, Drugs, & Disability

Study of addictions as it relates to physical disabilities.

RHAB 4575 – Current Issues in Substance Use Disorders

Topics vary each semester; usually examines family issues or special populations.
