Magistrate's Guide to Consular Notification Under the Vienna Convention

ATTORNEY GENERAL OF TEXAS

GREG ABBOTT

About This Booklet

This Magistrate's Guide contains instructions and guidance relating to the arrest and detention of foreign nationals and related issues pertaining to the provision of consular services to foreign nationals in the United States. This Magistrate's Guide is designed to help ensure that foreign governments can extend appropriate consular services to their nationals in the United States and that the United States complies with its legal obligations to such governments. The instructions and guidance herein should be followed by all federal, state, and local government judicial officials, insofar as they pertain to foreign nationals subject to such officials' authority or to matters within such officials' competence.

The continued cooperation of federal, state, and local judicial officials in ensuring that foreign nationals in the United States are treated in accordance with these instructions will permit the United States to comply with its consular legal obligations domestically. Additionally, it will help ensure that the United States can insist upon rigorous compliance by foreign governments with respect to United States citizens abroad. The Office of the Attorney General of Texas appreciates the assistance of all judicial officials in helping to achieve these objectives.

SUMMARY OF REQUIREMENTS PERTAINING TO FOREIGN NATIONALS

Summary of Requirements Pertaining to Foreign Nationals

1. When foreign nationals are arrested or detained, they must be advised of the right to have their consular officials notified.
2. In some cases, the nearest consular officials must be notified of the arrest or detention of a foreign national, regardless of the national's wishes.
3. Consular officials are entitled to access to their nationals in detention, and are entitled to provide consular assistance.
4. When a government official becomes aware of the death of a foreign national, consular officials must be notified.
5. When a guardianship or trusteeship is being considered with respect to a foreign national who is a minor or incompetent, consular officials must be notified.

These are mutual obligations that also pertain to American citizens abroad. In general, you should treat a foreign national as you would want an American citizen to be treated in a similar situation in a foreign country. This means prompt, courteous notification to the foreign national of the possibility of consular assistance, and prompt, courteous notification to the foreign national's nearest consular officials so that they can provide whatever consular services they deem appropriate.

STEPS TO FOLLOW WHEN A FOREIGN NATIONAL IS ARRESTED OR DETAINED

Steps To Follow When An Individual Believed To Be A Foreign National Is Arrested Or Detained

Steps to follow When a Foreign National Is Arrested or Detained

1. It is imperative that the determination of citizenship be on the record. Courts of record should ensure that the court reporter records all information regarding determination of citizenship, advisement or rights, and actions taken. Courts not of record should record in the docket all information establishing citizenship, including the responses of the defendant, advisement or rights, and actions taken. In addition, warning forms should include Vienna Convention warnings in the event that a foreign national is arrested or detained.

2. Determine the defendant's citizenship. This can be established by asking place of birth of the defendant, whether the defendant was born out of the United States, or whether the defendant has been naturalized under the Constitution and laws of the United States. In the absence of other information to the contrary, assume this is the country on whose passport or other travel document the foreign national travels.

3. If the foreign national's country of citizenship is not on the mandatory notification list on the next section:
 - * Offer without delay, to notify the foreign national's consular officials of the arrest/detention. For a suggested statement to the foreign national see Addendum One, attached herewith. Translations of the statement into selected foreign languages are also attached as Addendum Two.

 - * If the foreign national asks that the consular notification be given, notify the nearest consular officials of the foreign national's country of citizenship without delay. For phone and fax numbers to foreign embassies and consulates in the United States, see the attached Addendum Three. A suggested Fax sheet for complying with the notification is attached as Addendum Four.

4. If the foreign national's country of citizenship is on the list of mandatory notification countries on the next section:
 - * Notify that country's nearest consular officials, without delay, of the arrest/detention regardless of the foreign national's wishes. Phone and fax numbers for the mandatory countries are included in the attached Addendum Three. The suggested fax sheet in Addendum Four may also be used to comply with the notification requirement to the mandatory countries.

 - * Inform the foreign national that you are making this notification. The suggested statement for this situation is also found in Addendum One as are the translations into selected languages.

¹Notification is not mandatory in the case of persons who carry "Republic of China" passports issued by Taiwan. Such persons should be informed without delay that the nearest office of the Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office ("TECRO"), the unofficial entity representing Taiwan's interests in the United States can be notified at their request.

²Hong Kong reverted to Chinese sovereignty on July 1, 1997, and is now officially referred to as the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, or "SAR." Under paragraph 3(f)(2) of the March 25, 1997, U. S.-China Agreement on the Maintenance of the U.S. Consulate General in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, U.S. officials are required to notify Chinese officials of the arrest or detention of the bearers of Hong Kong passports in the same manner as is required for bearers of Chinese passports —i.e., immediately, and in any event within four days of the arrest or detention.

³British dependencies also covered by this agreement are Anguilla, British Virgin Islands, Bermuda, Montserrat, and the Turks and Caicos Islands. Their residents carry British passports.

⁴Although the U.S.S.R. no longer exists, some nationals of its successor states may still be traveling on its passports. Mandatory notification should be given to consular officers for all nationals of such states, including those traveling on old U.S.S.R. passports. The successor states are listed separately above.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Questions About Consular Officers

Q. What is a “consular officer”?

A. A consular officer is a citizen of a foreign country employed by a foreign government and authorized to provide assistance on behalf of that government to that government’s citizens in a foreign country. Consular officers are generally assigned to the consular section of a foreign government’s embassy in Washington, D.C., or to consular offices maintained by the foreign government in locations in the United States outside of Washington, D.C.

Q. What is a “consul”?

A. The terms “consular officer” and “consul” mean the same thing for purposes of the issues discussed in this booklet.

Q. How is a consular officer different from legal “counsel”?

A. The term “consul” should not be confused with “counsel.” The latter term means an attorney-at-law authorized to provide legal counsel and advice.

Questions About Foreign Nationals

Q. Who is a “foreign national”?

A. For the purposes of consular notification, a “foreign national” is any person who is not a U.S. citizen.

Q. Is a foreign national the same as an “alien”?

A. Yes. The terms “foreign national” and “alien” are synonymous.

Q. Is a person with a U.S. “green card” considered a foreign national?

A. Yes. Lawful permanent resident aliens who have a resident alien registration card (INS Form I-551), commonly known as a “green card,” retain their foreign nationality and must be considered “foreign nationals” for the purposes of consular notification.

Q. Do I have to ask everyone who appears before me whether he or she is a foreign national?

A. No, although some authorities do routinely ask persons taken into detention whether they are U.S. citizens. If a detainee claims to be a U.S. citizen in response to such a question, you generally can rely on that assertion and assume that consular notification requirements are not relevant. If you have reason to question whether the person you are arresting or detaining is a U.S. citizen, however, you should inquire further about his or her nationality so as to determine whether any consular notification obligations apply.

Q. Short of asking all detainees about their nationality, how might I know that someone is a foreign national?

A. A foreign national may present a foreign passport or an alien registration document as identification. If they present a document that indicates birth outside the United States, or claim to have been born outside the United States, they may be foreign nationals. (Most, but not all, persons born in the United States are U.S. citizens; most, but not all, persons born outside the United States are not.) Unfamiliarity with English may also indicate foreign nationality. Such indicators could be a basis for asking the person whether he or she is a foreign national.

Q. What about undocumented and “illegal” aliens?

A. All foreign nationals are entitled to consular notification and access, regardless of their visa or immigration status in the United States. Thus, “illegal” aliens have the same rights to consular assistance as do “legal” aliens. There is no reason, for purposes of consular notification, to inquire into a person’s legal status in the United States.

Q. What about dual nationals?

A. A person who is a national/citizen of two or more countries other than the United States should be treated in accordance with the rules applicable to each of these countries. A person who is a citizen of the United States and another country may be treated exclusively as a U.S. citizen. This is true even if the detainee’s other country of citizenship is a mandatory notification country.

Questions About Who Is Responsible Consular Notification

Q. Why are state and local government officials expected to provide such notification?

A. State and local governments must comply with the consular notification and access obligations because these obligations are embodied in treaties that are the law of the United States under the Supremacy Clause of the United States Constitution.

Questions About How Consular Notification Should Be Given

Q. Does the notification to the foreign national have to be in writing?

A. *No. You may inform the detainee orally or in writing. Providing the notification in writing may be helpful, particularly when the foreign national does not clearly understand English. A sample notification statement can be found in Addendum One in this booklet; translations of the statement into a number of foreign languages are in Addendum Two. In addition, it is strongly recommended that a written record of the fact of notification be maintained.

Q. If the foreign national requests that consular officials be notified, how quickly do I have to do so?

A. This notification should also occur “without delay” after the foreign national has requested that it be made. The federal, state, and local authorities consider “without delay” here to mean that there should be no deliberate delay, and that notification should occur as soon as reasonably possible under the circumstances. The federal, state, and local authorities would normally expect notification to consular officials to have been made within 24 hours, and certainly within 72 hours. On the other hand, judicial authorities do not normally consider notification of arrests and detentions to be required outside of a consulate’s regular working hours. In some cases, however, it will be possible and convenient to leave a message on an answering machine at the consulate or to send a fax even though the consulate is closed. (If a message is left on an answering machine, you are encouraged to make a follow-up call during normal business hours to ensure that it was received.) In addition, in cases of emergencies (such as deaths or serious accidents), efforts should be made to contact consular officials outside of normal hours.

Q. In the case of a “mandatory notification country, how quickly must the notification be provided to consular officials?

A. *The bilateral agreements that provide for mandatory notification use such language as “without delay” and “immediately.” A few provide that notification should occur immediately and not later than within two, three, or four days. Thus, the same guidance as above would generally apply: there should be no deliberate delay, and notification should occur as soon as reasonably possible under the circumstances.

Q. Can we simplify the process by always notifying consular officials, regardless of the foreign national’s wishes, instead of worrying about which countries are “optional” and which are “mandatory”?

A. No. You should not adopt a policy of notifying consular officers in every case regardless of whether notification is mandatory. The Vienna Convention on Consular Relations (hereafter ‘VCCR’) provides for giving the foreign national the option of having consular officials notified in part because of a concern that some foreign nationals will not want the fact of their arrest or detention disclosed unnecessarily. In some cases, a foreign national may be afraid of his or her government and may wish to apply for refugee status/asylum in the United States. The privacy wishes of the foreign national should therefore be respected unless there is a mandatory notification requirement. Only in mandatory notification cases should you notify consular officials regardless of the foreign national's wishes.

Q. Isn't it wrong to follow "mandatory notification" procedures if the foreign national does not want his consular officials notified? What about the foreign national's privacy interests? What if the foreign national is afraid of his own government?

A. If the foreign national is from a "mandatory notification" country, notification must be given even if the foreign national objects or claims to be afraid. If the foreign national is an asylum seeker, arrangements can be made to protect the foreign national while ensuring that his or her government's right to notification is protected. Under no circumstances should the fact that a foreign national has applied for asylum be revealed to that national's government. Specific guidance on such cases may be obtained from the United States Department of State.

Q. If the foreign national is from a "mandatory notification" country and I notify the consulate as required, should I tell the foreign national?

A. Yes. The foreign national should always be told that his or her consulate has been notified. While the mandatory notification agreements generally do not expressly require that the foreign national be informed of such notification, informing the foreign national is provided for in the VCCR. Most countries with which the United States has a bilateral agreement also belong to the VCCR.

Q. Can I comply with consular notification requirements by simply letting the detained foreign national have access to a telephone?

A. Not necessarily. It is the responsibility of the government officials responsible for the detention to ensure that consular notification is made. If the foreign national is from a mandatory notification country, you must ensure that notification is given to the consular officials; permitting the foreign national access to a phone, without taking further action, will not be sufficient for this purpose. If the foreign national is not from a mandatory notification country but wants consular notification, simply making a phone available also may not be sufficient. There must be adequate arrangements to ensure that the foreign national is actually able to make contact with his or her consular officials, and the responsible state and local officials must be able to confirm that contact was in fact made.

Q. What if the foreign national has an attorney?

A. Even though the foreign national may have an attorney, procedures for consular notification must still be followed, especially when the foreign national is a “mandatory notification” country.

Questions About Contacting the Office of the Texas Attorney General

Q. How can I get answers to other questions?

A. Additional inquiries may be directed to the Law Enforcement Liaison at the Office of the Attorney General, Criminal Investigations Division, 512-463-9570.

ADDENDUM ONE

Suggested Statement to be Made to Foreign Nationals Who are Arrested or Detained

There are two statements for each language. Shown below is the English language version of the suggested notification statement. Statement One (1) is for use if consular notification is at the foreign national's discretion and Statement Two (2) is for use if consular notification is mandatory. Statement One (1) includes an additional sentence asking the foreign national to circle "yes" or "no" to indicate whether consular notification should be made. The words "yes" and "no" then appear in both the foreign language and in English to minimize the possibility of any misunderstanding between the federal, state, or local government officials and the foreign national. The additional language is shown in italics in Statement One (1) as it appears in English below.

Statement One (1): When Consular Notification is at the Foreign National's Option

As a non-U.S. citizen who is being arrested or detained, you are entitled to have us notify your country's consular representatives here in the United States. A consular official from your country may be able to help you obtain legal counsel, and may contact your family and visit you in detention, among other things. If you want us to notify your country's consular officials, you can request this notification now, or at any time in the future. After your consular officials are notified, they may call or visit you. Do you want us to notify your country's consular officials? Please circle "yes" or "no."

Yes (in foreign language)/Yes (in English)

No (in foreign language)/No (in English)

Statement Two (2): When Consular Notification Is Mandatory

Because of your nationality, we are required to notify your country's consular representatives here in the United States that you have been arrested or detained. After your consular officials are notified, they may call or visit you. You are not required to accept their assistance, but they may be able to help you obtain legal counsel and may contact your family and visit you in detention, among other things. We will be notifying your country's consular officials as soon as possible.

ADDENDUM TWO

Translations of Suggested Statements to be Made to Foreign Nationals Who are Arrested or Detained

How To Use The Translations

There appear in the following pages, in thirteen different languages commonly used by foreign nationals in the United States, suggested statements that can be shown to a foreign national who has been arrested or detained and who does not understand English. There are two (2) statements for each foreign language translation. Statement One (1) is for use if consular notification is at the discretion of the foreign national and Statement Two (2) is for use when consular notification is mandatory. As with the English version, Statement One (1) of each translated version includes an additional sentence asking the foreign national to circle “yes” or “no” to indicate whether consular notification should take place. The words “yes” and “no” then appear in both the foreign language and in English to minimize the possibility of any misunderstanding between the federal, state, or local government officials and the foreign national.

ADDENDUM THREE

Foreign Embassies and Consulates in the United States (as of January 2006)

The following information provides the short-form name of the country, followed by telephone and fax numbers as currently available to the Department of State. Consular notification should be made to the listed location nearest to the place of arrest or detention. Washington, DC information is generally for embassies to the United States; numbers for other locations are for consular offices outside of Washington or, in the case of some countries without embassies or consular offices in the United States, for the country's mission to the United Nations in New York. Corrections to the listed numbers may be provided to the Department of State's Office of Public Affairs and Policy Coordination for Consular Affairs, telephone 202-647-4415; facsimile 202-736-7559.

In a few instances an entity that is not recognized as a country is listed because aliens may be traveling in the United States on travel documents issued by that entity. In addition, some aliens may still be traveling in the United States on documents issued by the former Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (U.S.S.R.), the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, and the former Socialist Federal Republic of Czechoslovakia. The successor states or entities of these three former countries are as follows:

Former U.S.S.R:	Former Yugoslavia:	Former Czechoslovakia:
Armenia	Bosnia and Herzegovina	Czech Republic
Azerbaijan	Croatia	Slovakia
