Male V.O.

There was a time parents feared the worse,
over every little cold, every snuffle or rash.

There was a time when thousands of children's lives were stolen by diseases that lurked behind every corner.

Measles, polio, tetanus, pertussis—the list goes on and on. Chances are you've heard of them, but never witnessed their devastating effects.

We have vaccines to thank for that. You see, vaccines have changed our lives for good. Not only are they safe—they keep those we love the most, safer.

Vaccinated against unseen dangers, today's kids can be stronger and healthier than ever. And parents can enjoy peace of mind.

So make sure your children get all their shots by their second birthday.
