

Need Help Finding Special Health-Related Services for a Client?

Case Management for Children and Pregnant Women (CPW) Can Help!

Case Management for Children and Pregnant Women (CPW) is a Medicaid reimbursed case management program that provides health related case management services to eligible children and pregnant women.

To be eligible for CPW case management services, a person must:

- 1) Have Medicaid or be eligible for Medicaid
- 2) Be a child (birth through age 20) with a health condition or health risk. Health condition or health risk is defined as a medical condition, illness, injury or disability that results in limitation of function, activities or social roles in comparison with same age peers in the general areas of physical, cognitive, emotional or social growth and development.
- 3) Need help to access services to prevent illness(es) or medical condition(s), to maintain function or to slow further deterioration of the condition.
- 4) Desire health related CPW case management services.

OR

- 1) Have Medicaid or be eligible for Medicaid
- 2) Be pregnant with one or more high-risk medical and/or psychosocial condition(s) during pregnancy.
- 3) Need help to access services to have a healthier pregnancy and a healthier baby
- 4) Desire health related CPW case management services.

CPW case managers are licensed social workers and licensed registered nurses.

CPW case managers provide services directly with the client or with the parent/legal guardian if the client is under the age of 18.

CPW case managers submit requests to the Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS) for prior approval of case management services.

To make a referral, call the THSteps Outreach and Informing line 1-877-THSTEPS (847-8377) or call a CPW case management provider in your area. A list of CPW providers can be found on the DSHS Case Management Website, <http://www.dshs.state.tx.us/caseman/default.shtm>
