The Federal Transit Administration, in collaboration with The National Council for Public-Private Partnerships, is pleased to announce a workshop designed to outline the utilization of public-private partnerships (PPPs) as a tool for delivery of transit projects. Learn the factors being considered by Federal, State, and Local governments in the development of on-going and new transit projects.

Join us for a networking reception on the evening of September 17, 2008 to interact with your industry peers and meet James S. Simpson, Administrator, U.S. Department of Transportation, along with many of the workshop speakers.

You do not want to miss this benchmark event geared to guide you through problem solving of risk management issues and to address critical questions on managing cash flow, contract terms, and other key factors in creating successful PPPs.

Topics to be discussed:

- Fundamentals and Issues
- Local and National Statutory Perspective
- Case Studies
- Generating Private Sector Financing
- Transit Oriented Development and Joint Development
- How to Apply Concepts to PPPs

Hotel Information:
