WROS was developed by the hard work of many water recreation professionals and outdoor enthusiasts from across the United States. Some of these individuals and agencies are recognized below.

A special acknowledgment is extended to the Federal Lakes Recreation Leadership Council (Council). The Council members are the heads of the eight agencies that manage Federal lakes. The Council is chaired by the Commissioner of the Bureau of Reclamation and the Chief of Civil Works of the Corps of Engineers. The Council contributed funds to the WROS study for field testing and preparation of this guidebook. WROS was designated as part of a pilot program that the Council adopted to develop innovative ideas to enhance recreation at Federal lakes.
