Overview of Oregon's Mental Health System

and housing so they can continue to live in their communities treatment, medication and assistance with problems such as work Services are designed to support and stabilize people with

- Early Assessment and Support Team (EAST)
- Acute care provided in hospital or residential setting Mobile crisis outreach and crisis respite
- Assertive community treatment
- Supported education and supported employment Services to persons released from jail or on jail diversion
- Supported housing
- Telepsychiatry for rural regions
 - Psychiatric services and medication subsidies
- Integrated treatment for people with co-occurring disorders (mental health and addiction)
- Family psycho education
- Peer delivered supports and services

a danger to themselves or others or are unable, due to their hospital by a court. Civil commitments include those who are for people with mental illness who are committed to the State operated psychiatric hospitals provide hospitalization insanity defendants who are found unfit to proceed or for (PSRB). This includes those who are found guilty except for the supervision of the Psychiatric Security Review Board two-thirds are committed by criminal courts and come under one-third of the patients fall into this category. The remaining mental illness, to meet their own basic needs. Approximately whom there is a question of fitness

- Oregon State Hospital
- Salem Campus
- Portland Campus
- Blue Mountain Recovery Center in Pendleton

- with severe and chronic mental illness who have not been committed to a psychiatric hospital. treatment. Sometimes these services will be provided to people Services are generally designed for people released from state hospitals and include intensive outpatient and residential
- Managed residential care provides supervised living and communities receiving funds from AMH/DHS treatment through contracts with private providers and
- under civil commitment who are being released from one of placements and services specifically designed for people Extended care services - provided supervised residential the psychiatric hospitals.
- Enhanced care programs provide mental health services to older people who qualify
- provide intensive treatment in small secure facilities as a 16 bed community based treatment facilities - designed to Placement for those under the supervision of the PSRB