

Workshops of the Week

The City Museum and Snowflake Creations

Wednesday, October 24 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. City Museum

The visual arts group will tour the phenomenal City Museum in St. Louis. It is an architectural marvel made out of unique objects from cities in the U.S. as well as around the globe. (Recommended exploring apparel includes long pants and comfortable walking shoes.) Not only will you tour the museum, but you'll also have the opportunity to participate in a workshop on constructing unique snowflake-type of creations, presented by artist Vivian Nichols.

The St. Louis Art Museum and Print Making

Thursday, October 25 9:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Art Museum

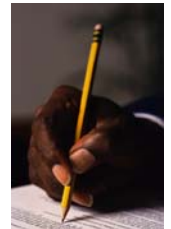

The St. Louis Art Museum has one of the finest comprehensive art collections in the country. Along with the opportunity to tour the museum, you will also discover the magic of intaglio printing. Learn the dry point method of printing and create your own intaglio print using an etching press. Participants will be inspired by more than 25 drawings and engravings on view in a special exhibition, George Caleb Bingham: The making of "The County Election." Instructor: Michael Lucas, Associate Educator, St. Louis Art Museum

Creative Writing Sessions

Thursday, October 25 7:00-8:30 p.m. Penthouse Ballroom, 12th floor

We are excited to offer creative writing workshops this year! English professors from St. Louis University have compiled two different exciting workshops for our writers. One will target experienced writers while the other will focus on assisting novices on honing in on their writing skills.

Help Hospitalized Veterans Craft Kit Workshop

Friday, October 26 9:00-11:30 a.m. Penthouse Ballroom, 12th floor

Help Hospitalized Veterans, located in Winchester, California, will present a complimentary craft workshop where you can assemble and decorate a memento clock (wood) and a medium sized leather pouch with a commemorative stamp. Led by Craft Care Specialist Mia Leber from the Jesse Brown VA Medical Center in Chicago, this ever-popular workshop will inspire you beyond belief to seek out new creative arts avenues.

Leatherworking

Friday, October 26 7:00-9:30 p.m. Penthouse Ballroom, 12th floor

Join Jim Koerber from the Tandy Leather Company. He will instruct you as you create a leatherworking project together. Each participant will leave with a completed leather project.
