

With almost 8 percent of its employment in architecture and engineering occupations, Huntsville, Alabama, has the greatest share of its employment in these occupations.

Architecture and engineering occupations made up 1.8 percent of total employment in the United States.

Figure 22 Percentage of employment of architecture and engineering occupations by area, May 2006

