

Sharon Cook, EFS – Sharon elaborated on Educational Field Service’s Compliance Assistance for Contractors and what is available.

- Emphasis on communication following instructions given – not following examples given – they are not always the correct or safe way
- Use of web site www.msha.gov to search for information on Part 45 which covers contractors
- Numerous types of material and information can also be found at the academy such as “best practices pocket cards ,” safety manuals, stickers.

We assist with training programs and plans; provide assistance in training to make a difference, job training analysis and provide training and safety information. Get your people involved in your training program – make them an active and important part of the training.
