

2. Corrective Action Complete With Controls Determinations

To process a Corrective Action Complete with Controls determination, regulatory agencies should consider the regulatory status of the facility, among other factors, in determining what procedures are appropriate. For permitted facilities, following the permit modification procedures in 40 CFR 270.42 would be appropriate. For non-permitted facilities, the regulatory agency should generally follow alternate procedures (e.g., issue a notice with an opportunity to comment) that provide procedural protections equivalent to, although not necessarily identical to, those required by Part 124 requirements (or the authorized State equivalent). However, following procedures other than the Part 124 procedures does not terminate interim status even though they may result in a Complete with Controls determination. Interim status should not be terminated at a RCRA facility where corrective action requirements remain. If corrective action was implemented through an order, the regulator should not eliminate the order until the facility meets all corrective action obligations required under the order.

As was discussed above, at facilities (permitted or non-permitted) where a Corrective Action Complete with Controls determination is made, and long-term institutional controls are necessary to continued protection of human health and the environment, the regulator may explore a variety of options including permits, orders, and other enforceable mechanisms to maintain the institutional control where appropriate.

3. Corrective Action Complete Without Controls Determinations for Less Than the Entire Facility

As was discussed above, EPA or the authorized State could make a Corrective Action Complete without Controls determination for a portion of a facility where corrective action obligations remain at the remaining portion. Where the regulatory agency determines that a Corrective Action Complete without Controls decision is appropriate for a portion of the facility, it should process that decision using procedures that will not affect portions of the facility where corrective action requirements remain.

For example, at a permitted facility, the agency might process a Corrective Action Completion determination for a portion of the facility by modifying the permit following the procedures in 40 CFR 270.42. The agency should not eliminate the permit, however, if corrective action responsibilities (and possibly other RCRA responsibilities) remain at the facility.

At non-permitted facilities, the Agency or authorized State might utilize alternate procedures as described above (e.g., issue a notice) to process the Corrective Action Completion determination for a portion of the facility. Those procedures should generally provide procedural protections equivalent to, although not necessarily identical to, those required by Part 124 requirements (or the authorized State equivalent). However, interim status is not terminated by such procedures and generally should not be terminated at a facility where RCRA obligations remain. If the corrective action was implemented through an order, it is important to maintain the order until the facility satisfies all corrective action obligations and ensures that institutional controls will be maintained.
