“Paul Revere earned his living as a silversmith. But what do we remember him for? His volunteer work. All activism is volunteering in that it's done above and beyond earning a living and deals with what people really care passionately about. Remember, no one gets paid to rebel. All revolutions start with volunteers.”

Susan J. Ellis

31 Days of Mentoring

My life has been shaped in more ways than I'll ever know by great people who taught, mentored and modeled for me lasting qualities of leadership, integrity and sacrifice. First and primarily were my parents Lee and Dorothy Sickal who taught by both wise and consistent words and by example, eternal values. Teachers like Louisa Bowler, Loretta Folger, and, in college, Milton Buettner made me believe I could become more than I ever could dream. Even now I am being mentored by giants like Ann Smith, who have not only a rich reservoir of experience but a global perspective that stretches and inspires me. I only hope I have returned some of what these and many others have given to me by helping to mentor the young people God has put in my life and sphere of influence.

“Growing up in a big family and a small town meant I had a lot of people who helped nurture the dreams of my youth. Apart from my Mom and Dad, there were several teachers who greatly impacted my life such as Sister Rachel, Debbie Shultz, and Dr. George M. Curtis III. To Sister Rachel, Debbie Shultz and Dr. Curtis, I owe much of what little I have been able to become in this world. I owe them a debt I shall never fully repay.”

Mike Pence, United States Congressman
