“A. Stanley Rand Fellowship”

STRI is honored to announce the “A. Stanley Rand Fellowship,” which was recently established by the Smithsonian Institution’s Board of Regents. The “A. Stanley Rand Endowment” was built through many generous donations from Stan’s friends, family members, former students and fellow colleagues at STRI. The endowment will fund short term (3-4 month) fellowships at STRI, with preference given to research areas that were of interest to Stan: animal behavior and natural history, evolutionary biology, plant and animal ecology and environmental monitoring.

This new fellowship program recognizes Stan’s efforts to foster and promote the careers of young biologists, especially those from Latin America, and his belief in the importance of tropical research. STRI staff scientist A. Stanley Rand (1932-2005) played a monumental role in mentoring countless young students in evolutionary and ecological studies of the behavior of reptiles and amphibians.

Awards will support independent research projects, and include round-trip airfare to Panama, up to $2,000 for research expenses, and a stipend for living expenses.

Candidates will be selected by the Academic Board during their quarterly meetings. Deadlines for submission are the 15th of February, May, August and November. Applicants will be notified six to eight weeks after the submission deadline.

For additional information about this program, or to contribute to the Endowment, contact Adriana Bilgray, administrator of STRI’s Fellowship and Internship Program, at bilgraya@si.edu

STRI tiene el honor de anunciar la “Beca A. Stanley Rand”, recientemente establecida por el Comité de Síndicos del Smithsonian. El “Fondo A. Stanley Rand” se creó a través de muchas donaciones generosas de parte de los amigos de Stan, miembros de su familia, antiguos estudiantes y colegas en STRI. El fondo financiará becas de 3-4 meses en STRI, con preferencia para estudios en las áreas que fueron de interés para Stan: comportamiento animal e historia natural, biología evolutiva, ecología de plantas y animales, y monitoreo ambiental.

Este nuevo programa de becas reconoce los esfuerzos de Stan para apoyar y promover las carreras de jóvenes biólogos, especialmente de América Latina, y su fuerte creencia en la importancia de las investigaciones en el trópico. El científico de STRI A. Stanley Rand (1932-2005) jugó un rol monumental al ser mentor de incontables estudiantes jóvenes dedicados a investigaciones en evolución y ecología del comportamiento de anfibios y reptiles.

Las becas financiarán investigaciones independientes e incluirán el costo del viaje ida
