

A white rectangular sign with the words "BAD DOG" written in red, bold, sans-serif capital letters. The sign is hanging from a metal fence. The fence is made of vertical and horizontal metal bars, with a decorative arched pattern at the top. The fence is situated in a muddy, brownish waterway. In the background, there are trees and a wooden structure. The foreground shows a muddy bank with some debris, including a white plastic cup lying on the ground.

BAD DOG

A vertical soil profile is shown, likely from a field or laboratory setting. The soil is dark brown and appears to be a clay or silty clay. The profile is divided into two main sections by a horizontal boundary. The upper section is lighter in color and has a more crumbly, fractured texture. The lower section is darker and more uniform in color. Two white paper markers are placed on the left side of the profile to indicate depth. The top marker is labeled "20" and the bottom marker is labeled "30". A white vertical object, possibly a measuring tool or a marker, is visible on the right side of the profile.
