

Matt Bement - Matt received his Ph.D. in mechanical engineering with a control systems design specialty in 2000 from Texas A&M University. He then joined LANL as a staff member, where his research activities include damage assessment and prognosis for structural systems. He is particularly interested in identification of nonlinear damage scenarios in nominally nonlinear systems, and application of active control to the damage prognosis problem.

Contact Information:

Matt Bement
MS P946
Los Alamos National Laboratory
Los Alamos, NM 87545
Phone: 505-663-5140
bement@lanl.gov