

WILDERNESS QUOTAS

Sierra National Forest

Year-round, wilderness trailhead quotas are in place for the Dinkey, Kaiser, Ansel Adams and John Muir Wildernesses. For all trails, 60 percent of the trailhead quota for visitors is available through advanced reservations and 40 percent is available 24 hours prior to entry for walk-in visitors. Below is the trailhead name, the quota available for advanced reservations, and the number of permits available first come, first served for each wilderness. Permits will be arranged by the commercial service provider for visitors using businesses such as pack stations or backpacking guide services operating on the Sierra National Forest.

Wilderness Permits and Trailhead Quotas

A wilderness visitor permit is required for all overnight trips into the wilderness. Trailhead quotas are in place year-round. For all trails, 60 percent of the trailhead quota is available through advanced reservations and 40 percent is available 24 hours prior to entry for walk-in customers, first come-first served. There is a $5.00 non-refundable reservation fee for each person for all trails. There is a $10.00 charge for any changes to a confirmed reservation. For trips exiting at Mt. Whitney there is a $15.00 fee. First come, first served permits are free of charge.

All Are Welcome

Leave No Trace

To practice LEAVE NO TRACE, follow these simple practices:

- Camp at least 100 feet from meadows, stream banks, and lakeshores.
- Do not shortcut switchbacks.
- Keep soaps and detergents (including biodegradable ones) out of lakes and streams.
- Treat stream or lake water before using. Boil at least 5 minutes to remove harmful organism.
- Bury all human waste and toilet paper 6 to 8 inches deep, at least 100 feet from water where runoff won't carry contamination into lakes and streams.
- Use gas stoves in the high country.
- Do not use wood from live or dead standing trees.
- Pack out all your trash.
