

Local solutions for a sustainable future

For more than thirty years, our nonprofit has been helping people learn more about technologies and practices that save energy and resources. We help government agencies, small businesses, companies, and other nonprofit organizations spread information about sustainable energy, agriculture, and community development by creating and conducting trainings, publications, websites, grant programs, and telephone help lines. See what we can do for you!

Helping people use sustainable solutions for over 30 years.

National Center for Appropriate Technology

NCAT

800-275-6228 (1-800-ask-ncat) ♦ www.ncat.org