

We have extended the dates for Abstracts to March 3, 2009...Click here

For more information...go to <http://www.iemss.org/farmsys09>

The 2nd Biennial International Farming Systems Design 2009

Portola Hotel and Spa - Monterey, California, USA
August 23-26, 2009

Submit an Abstract Today

The Second Farming Systems Design Symposium will be held August 23 to 26, 2009 in Monterey, CA. This meeting is a joint international effort co-sponsored by the American Society of Agronomy, European Society of Agronomy, Australian Society of Agronomy, American Society of Agricultural and Biological Engineers, and the International Environmental Modeling and Software Society. Important issues for the global agricultural community, including food security, environmental impacts, climatic change, and management alternatives for enhancing natural resources, will be discussed. This meeting will assemble the leading scientists throughout the world to share their ideas and results and prepare papers that will be published as special collections in the world's leading scientific journals. This meeting welcomes interested scientists and professionals throughout the world to participate in this ongoing effort to understand farming systems design.

The date for getting your Abstract submitted has been extended. Abstracts are now due March 3, 2009...make sure to submit yours today.

This international conference is co-sponsored by:

Australian
Society of Agronomy

International Environmental Modeling and Software Society

American Society of Agronomy

European Society of Agronomy

American Society of Agricultural and Biological Engineers

