FEDERAL HOUSING FINANCE BOARD NAMES THOMAS J. LEACH AS CHIEF INFORMATION OFFICER

Thomas J. Leach has been named Chief Information Officer (CIO) for the Federal Housing Finance Board, Chairman Alicia R. Castaneda announced today.

Leach, of Centreville, Va., officially begins his position on Oct. 18.

Leach comes to the agency from Advanced Technology Systems of McLean, Va., working for the past 18 months as Project Manager at the Finance Board. He was employed by Advanced Technology Systems for 14 years.

As CIO, he will be responsible for all day-to-day Information Technology activities at the agency, including information security, application development and the planned redesign of the Finance Board's Internet site. He will also oversee the development and implementation of IT policy.

Leach earned a bachelor's degree in business administration, computer information systems, in 1990 from James Madison University in Virginia.
