by International Society of Mine Safety Professionals

This 2-day conference is part of the 58th annual week-long program offered by the University of Utah School on Alcoholism and Other Drug Dependencies (June 21- 26). The internationally recognized School has 16 different sections, one is a special two-day section for the mining industry. The School has continually expanded its scope to keep pace with increased awareness of the health and social problems of alcoholism and other drug dependencies.

The Mining Industry Section is planned for: supervisors; foremen; health and safety officers; training specialists; human resource personnel, operators; representatives from unions, mining associations and MSHA; and others interested in the prevention and management of alcohol and substance misuse within the mining workforce.

Invited speakers include: Helen Blevins, BSN, CONSOL Energy Inc.; Adele Abrams, Esq., CMSP, Law Office of Adele Abrams; Kevin McCauley, MD, Institute for Addiction Studies; Pat Sammon, PhD, University of Kentucky; Paul Teynor, MD, Intermountain MRO Services, Inc; Anjie Barney, Occupational Health Care International; Tom Hethmon, Dyno Nobel, Inc.; Chuck Jackson, EdD, Human Factor Services; Kelly Lundberg, PhD, University of Utah; and Steve Sheppard, PhD, University of Utah.

Multiple scholarships for the registration fee are available from the Utah Division of Substance Abuse and Mental Health on a first-come, first serve basis for individuals who have not attended before. See contact information below.

Accommodations: Food is available for purchase on campus. Lodging is available in residential housing on campus, $30 per night per person; University Guest House, $75 plus tax per night; Marriott University Park Hotel [adjacent to the campus], $109 plus tax per night. Room reservations must be made in advance.

Participants may attend another section for the remainder of the week for additional training on substance abuse. The total fee for the week-long program is $385.*
