² West Virginia disagrees with the deferred nonattainment/classification that would, if the EAC fails, make these two counties the same classification as the Washington D.C. nonattainment area.

³ Maryland is pursuing, on parallel tracks, the EAC (MDE's preferred option) for these counties, and the split from Baltimore (as a second option).

⁴ Pennsylvania, while acknowledging violating monitors in these counties, believes that it is unreasonable to expect that these counties, if designated nonattainment, could make the reductions necessary to produce attainment in their areas.

⁷ Virginia is supportive of the partial county Shenandoah Park designation but the National Park Service is not. The NPS would like to include, as part of the SNP nonattainment area, all upwind contributing areas.
