Subject: 401K fees rules

I am in favor of DOL developing rules to disclose the fees investors pay for management and administration of 401K. accounts.

In my investments the fees are completely opaque. I had to ask my investment advisor how he gets paid. Even after he told me what his fee was I could not find any sign of it on my statements. I'm sure there are other fees that are hidden as well.

This is dishonest. We have a right to know what we're paying for our mortgage interest and closing fees. We should also know what we are being charged to manage our retirement accounts.

Thanks,
