

Postal Facilities Dedicated by Congress in Honor of Individuals

(as of May 4, 2009)

In 1967, Congress passed the first law dedicating a postal facility in honor of an individual. Below is a list of the people so recognized; a brief description of why they were honored; the state, city, street address, and ZIP Code of the building dedicated to each honoree; the Congressional District; the date the law was enacted to honor him or her; and the name of the bill, with its Public Law number. A plaque in honor of the person is displayed in a prominent, secure area in the Post Office lobby.

*Note: ZIP Codes and Congressional Districts listed for the laws passed prior to 2009 reflect data from 2008. Beginning with 2009 legislation, ZIP Codes and Congressional Districts listed were current as of the time the laws were passed.
