II. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- This project is important because very little information on tribal offenses has been reported.
- Information was available on 38 of the 47 tribal agencies.
- Overall, there was a high percent of reported offenses cleared by arrest or exceptional means with 60.7 percent in 2004 and 87.6 percent cleared in 2005.
- In considering the total number of offenses for 2004 and 2005, alcohol was involved in about 40 percent of the offenses.
- Alcohol use was most common for the offenses of: Archaeological Resource Protection Act (ARPA) violations (100%), disorderly conduct (73.0%), attempted forcible rape (65.8%), child abuse (63.2%), elderly abuse (58.1%), assault (56.4%), and aggravated assault (55.4%).
- The influence of drug use was most common for the offenses of: prostitution/commercialized vice (43.5%), robbery (11.8%), homicide (11.1%), stolen property (10.8%), and fraud (10.2%).
- The most common reported offenses were: drunkenness, disorderly conduct, liquor laws, assault, DWI, theft, domestic violence, suspicious person report, and drug violations.
- The tribal agencies reported very high offense clearance rates with 60.7 percent cleared by arrest or exceptional means in 2004, and 87.6 percent of the offenses cleared in 2005. The offenses with the highest clearance rates included: liquor laws (96.6%), drunkenness (94.7%), disorderly conduct (93.6%), curfew and loitering (93.0%), homicide (92.6%), Archeological Resources Preservation Act (ARPA) violations (91.7%), and prostitution/commercialized vice (91.3%).
- The overall Index crime rates of 1989 (using population method 1) and 1550 (using population method 2) for 2004, and 2575 (using population method 1), and 2007 (using population method 2) for 2005 were low when compared with the national rates of 3983 for 2004 and 3938 for 2005.

III. INTRODUCTION

According to the 2000 census, American Indians and Alaska Natives account for about 1.5 percent or 4.3 million people in the United States. Most (2.5 million) of these listed “American Indian” or “Alaska Native” as their only racial category, while some (1.8 million) indicated “American Indian” or “Alaska Native” along with one or more additional race categories. It is estimated that nearly one-half (43.5%) of all American Indians/Alaska Natives resided on Federal reservations or in a tribal statistical area during the 2000 Census.<sup>1</sup>

The offense information for the report was provided by Office of Law Enforcement and Security within District 5 of the Bureau of Indian Affairs office in Billings, Montana. District 5 includes three Regions (Mountain, Northwest, and Juneau) with 47 Tribes, covering the states of Montana, Wyoming, Alaska, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon.

IV. OVERALL RESULTS

Offenses Reported by Tribal Law Enforcement Agencies

Reported offenses for 2004 and 2005 were available for 38 tribal law enforcement agencies located in the six western states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Alaska, Montana, and Wyoming. Most (21) of the reporting agencies submitted reports for 2004 and 2005, while some (11) only reported for 2005, and a few (6) only reported offense information for 2004. The data were submitted as summary information in either monthly, quarterly, or a yearly format.

Offenses Cleared

The table below (Table 2) lists the number of offenses reported and the number of these offenses that were ‘cleared.’ An offense is cleared in several ways including when at least one person is arrested, charged with the commission of an offense, and turned over to a court for prosecution. Also, a clearance by arrest can be claimed when an offender is under 18 years of age and is cited to appear in juvenile court or before other juvenile authorities. Additionally, an offense can also be "cleared exceptionally" when an investigation has definitely established the identity of an offender, and the exact location of an offender is known, but for some reason (i.e., offender is deceased, offender cannot be extradited, etc.), law enforcement cannot take the offender into custody.

Overall, the percent of offenses cleared was very good for these tribal agencies with 60.7 percent of all crimes cleared in 2004, and 87.6 percent cleared in 2005. Many agencies reported clearance rates of greater than 80 percent. Thorough law enforcement practices and personal knowledge of local residents and family relationships contributed to the high clearance rates.

Alcohol and Crime

The rate of alcohol usage as a contributing factor in the commission of crimes, ranged greatly among the reporting agencies with rates varying between 0.0 percent (Nooksack) to 85.8 percent (Blackfeet) for all offenses reported in 2004 and 2005. Overall for the 38 agencies, offenses involving alcohol use for all crimes was 22.3 percent in 2004, 58.4 percent in 2005, resulting in a combined percent of 40.6 percent. The combined rate of 40.6 percent compares closely to the National level of about 40 percent of all crimes (violent and non-violent) that are committed under the influence of alcohol.<sup>2</sup>

Alcohol and Drug Usage and Crime

Overall, alcohol or drug use was reported to be a factor in 25 percent of all offenses in 2004 and 63.2 percent of all offenses reported in 2005. The rate of alcohol or drug influence in the commission of crimes varied significantly for the reporting agencies with rates ranging from 0.0 percent (Nooksack) to 86.8 percent (Blackfeet) for the all offenses reported in 2004 and 2005. Agencies located in western Washington or Oregon reported the highest overall rates of drug use associated with the commission of crimes. The highest rates by reporting agency of drug influence in the commission of offenses were: 21.9 percent (Skokomish), 18.8 percent (Tulalip), 17.4 percent (Port Gamble), and 15.3 percent (Siletz).

*If alcohol use was not reported for one year but was for the other, the numbers of offenses for the missing years were not used in the tabulation of the overall percent rate (Hon River (2004), Puyallup (2004), Tulalip (2004)).

Type of Offenses - Persons, Property, Substance Use Violation, and Other Offenses

Overall, 10.8 percent of the offenses reported were crimes against persons, 9.4 were property crimes, and 21.2 percent involved substance use violations. See definitions for crimes against persons, against property, and substance use violations at the bottom of Table 5. The percentages in Table 5 refer to the number in the cell as a percent of the total. For example (Blackfeet Agency), 2569 in column 1 (Crimes Against Persons 2004 & 2005) is 13.8 percent of 18,634 (Total offenses 2004 & 2005).

Crimes against persons = homicide, manslaughter, forcible rape, sex offenses, attempted forcible rape, aggravated assault, assault, domestic violence, child abuse, elderly abuse, and robbery.

Crimes against property = burglary, vandalism, stolen property, motor vehicle theft, larceny-theft, embezzlement, forgery/counterfeiting, fraud, and arson.

Substance violations = DWI, drug violations, liquor laws, and drunkenness.

Total Offenses – All Agencies Combined

Specific offenses reported by the 38 tribal law enforcement agencies for 2004, 2005, and the total number of offenses for those two years are listed below in Table 6. The most common reported offenses were: drunkenness, disorderly conduct, liquor laws, assault, DWI, theft, domestic violence, suspicious person report, and drug violations.

Alcohol Involvement in the Commission of Crimes

Alcohol use was involved in the commission of many of the offenses reported by the 38 tribal law enforcement agencies. Alcohol use was most common for the offenses of: Archaeological Resource Protection Act (ARPA) violations (100%), disorderly conduct (73.0%), attempted forcible rape (65.8%), child abuse (63.2%), elderly abuse (58.1%), assault (56.4%), and aggravated assault (55.4%). National information reported for convicted offenders in state prisons indicated that alcohol was involved in 41.4 percent of murders, 32.7 percent of robberies, 41.6 percent of aggravated assault cases, 34.7 percent of reported burglaries, and 29.2 percent of larceny-theft offenses.<sup>3</sup> The reported information by the 38 Tribal agencies was: murder (40.7%), robbery (11.8%), aggravated assault (55.4%), burglary (19.5%), and larceny-theft (17.9%).

Drug Involvement in the Commission of Crimes

Drug use in the commission of crimes was substantially less than alcohol use, but was a contributing factor in 2.7 percent of the offenses in 2004 and 4.8 percent of all reported offenses in 2005. It was possible for both alcohol and drugs to be associated with committing crime. However for summary information, it is not possible to determine the percent of both drug and alcohol. Outside of drug violations, the influence of drug use was most common for: prostitution/commercialized vice (43.5%), robbery (11.8%), homicide (11.1%), stolen property (10.8%), and fraud (10.2%).

Alcohol or Drug Involvement in the Commission of Crimes

Alcohol or drug use in the commission of crimes was 25.0 percent in 2004, but was substantially higher at 63.2 percent in 2005. The reason for substantial increases between these two years is unknown, but will be monitored in subsequent years. Besides direct substance offenses (i.e., drunkenness, DWI, etc.), alcohol and/or drug use was most prevalent for disorderly conduct (74.9%), attempted forcible rape (68.4%), elderly abuse (65.1%), child abuse (65.0%), assault (59.0%) aggravated assault (58.3%), and prostitution/commercialized vice (56.5%).

Percent Offenses Cleared by Offense Category for All Reporting Agencies

The tribal agencies furnishing information for this report had very high offense clearance rates with 60.7 percent cleared by arrest or exceptional means in 2004, and 87.6 percent of the offenses cleared in 2005. In considering the aggregate results for the two years, the offenses with the highest clearance rates included: liquor laws (96.6%), drunkenness (94.7%), disorderly conduct (93.6%), curfew and loitering (93.0%), homicide (92.6%), Archeological Resources Preservation Act (ARPA) violations (91.7%), and prostitution/commercialized vice (91.3%).

Agency Clearance Rates Compared with National Clearance Rates

In comparing clearance rates reported by various agencies in the U.S. with the 38 tribal agencies, it was found that the tribal agencies had much higher clearance rates for each offense listed below in Table 11. As previously indicated, the high clearance rates are indicative of thorough and professional law enforcement personnel, along with police officers having a good knowledge of individual reservation people, family members, and relationship patterns. From Table 11, it can be noted that the clearance rate for non-metro counties is also higher than the overall rates, illustrating that smaller populated areas (like many reservations) is better suited for identifying and finding suspects of offenses.

Population Values for Index Crimes

One of the challenges in calculating Index crime rates for tribal agencies/reservations is the difficulty in obtaining dominator information. That is, what is to be used for the area population? Some possible population values include: tribal enrollment, tribal members living on the reservation, tribal members living on or near the reservation, all American Indians living on the reservation, all American Indians living on or near the reservation, and all persons of any race/ethnicity living on the reservation. In this study, the American Indian population living on or near the reservation was used, because the information was available and because this population would be a good representation of persons likely to be on the reservation. The population numbers were obtained from the American Indian Populations and Labor Reports from the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) for 2003. The tribal enrollment information is available, but that rate can be much different than the number of persons residing on or near the reservations, which would be the better target population for calculating crime rates by population. The Columbia River Gorge and Pacific Northwest Columbia River agencies are units that have BIA agents assigned to patrol fishing sites and related lands near the rivers. Puget Sound Agency is not associated with any tribe per se, but serves as a satellite BIA agency in the Seattle area. These three agencies do not have a population estimate.

*Pop1 is the American Indian population living on or near the reservations, as per BIA Labor Study.

**Pop2 is the total reservation population of all persons (AI or other) or the American Indian population living on or near the reservations if total reservation population was not available.

#Population values for all persons living on the reservation were available for five reservations.

Index Crimes = aggravated assault, arson, burglary, forcible rape, homicide (including negligent manslaughter), larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and robbery.

Crime Index Rates

The main focus on the Crime Index rate will be the overall rates for all reporting agencies, because information was not uniformly available for both years and small population bases and fluctuating numbers of reported crimes can result in spurious results. The overall Index crime rates for 2004 (1989, 1550) and 2005 (2575, 2007) were relatively low when compared with the overall United States rate of 3983 for 2004 and 3938 for 2005.

Index crimes = aggravated assault, arson, burglary, forcible rape, homicide (including manslaughter by negligence), larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and robbery.

Pop1 is the American Indian population living on or near the reservations, as per BIA Labor Study.

Pop2 is the total reservation population of all persons (AI or other) or the American Indian population living on or near the reservations if total reservation population was not available.

General Offense Definitions

These definitions may vary somewhat by state, tribe, or other jurisdiction.

Aggravated Assault: An unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury. This type of assault usually is accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm.

ARPA Violations: Violations of the Archaeological Resource Protection Act.

Arson: Any willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, personal property of another, etc.

Burglary: The unlawful entry of a structure to commit a felony or a theft. For reporting purposes this definition includes: unlawful entry with intent to commit a larceny or felony; breaking and entering with intent to commit a larceny; housebreaking; safecracking; and all attempts to commit any of the aforementioned.

Curfew and Loitering: All arrests or offenses reported for violations of local curfew or loitering ordinances where such laws exist.

Crimes Against Persons: homicide, manslaughter by negligence, forcible rape, attempted forcible rape, sex offenses, aggravated assault, assault, robbery, domestic violence, child abuse, and elderly abuse.

Disorderly Conduct: This refers to offenses resulting in a breach of the peace.

Drug Abuse Violations: Violations of state and local laws relating to the unlawful possession, sale, use, growing, manufacturing, and making of narcotic drugs. The relevant substances include: opium or cocaine and their derivatives (morphine, heroin, codeine); marijuana; synthetic narcotics (Demerol, methadones); and dangerous non-narcotic drugs (barbiturates, Benzedrine).

Driving While intoxicated (DWI): Driving or operating any vehicle while under the influence of liquor or drugs.

Drunkenness: Drunkenness is to drink alcoholic beverages to the extent that one's mental faculties and physical coordination are substantially impaired (Excludes Driving Under the Influence and DWI).

Embezzlement: Misappropriation of money or property entrusted to one's care.

Forgery/Counterfeiting: Forgery and counterfeiting are treated as allied offenses. In this classification are placed all offenses dealing with the making, altering, or possessing with intent to defraud.

Fraud: Fraudulent conversion and obtaining money or property by false pretenses.

Gambling: All offenses which relate to promoting, permitting, or engaging in illegal gambling activities are included in this category.

Homicide - Manslaughter by Negligence: The killing of another person through gross negligence.

Homicide - Murder and Non-Negligent Manslaughter: The willful (non-negligent) killing of one human being by another.

Index Crimes: offenses included are: aggravated assault, arson, burglary, forcible rape, homicide (including negligent manslaughter), larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and robbery.

Larceny/Theft: The unlawful taking of property from the possession of another; includes pick pocketing, purse snatching, shoplifting, bike theft, and theft from motor vehicle.

Liquor Law Violations: The violation of laws or ordinances prohibiting: the manufacture, sale, transporting, furnishing, possessing of intoxicating liquor; maintaining unlawful drinking places; bootlegging; operating a still; furnishing liquor to a minor or intemperate person; using a vehicle for illegal transportation of liquor; drinking on a train or public conveyance; and all attempts to commit any of the aforementioned. (Drunkness and driving under the influence are not included in this definition.)

Motor Vehicle Theft: The theft or attempted theft of a motor vehicle in which automobiles are taken by persons not having lawful access even though the vehicles are later abandoned, including joyriding.

Property Crimes: Burglary, vandalism, stolen property, motor vehicle theft, larceny-theft, embezzlement, forgery/counterfeiting, fraud, and arson.

Prostitution/Commercialized Vice: Prostitution and Commercialized Vice include the unlawful promotion of, or participation in, sexual activities for profit, including attempts. Sex offenses of a commercialized nature includes: prostitution, keeping a bawdy house, procuring, or transporting women for immoral purposes...attempts are included.

Robbery: The taking or attempting to take anything of value from the care, custody, or control of a person or persons by force or threat of force or violence and/or by putting the victim in fear.

Rape (Forcible Rape): The carnal knowledge of a person forcibly and/or against that person's will; or not forcibly or against the person's will where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of his/her temporary or permanent mental or physical incapacity (or because of his/her age).

Runaway: When a juvenile has departed from some location within the local jurisdiction and the juvenile's parents or guardians have reported them as a runaway.

Sex Offenses: Any sexual act directed against another person, forcibly and/or against that person's will; or not forcibly or against the person's will where the victim is incapable of giving consent.

Stolen Property Offenses: Included in this classification are all offenses of buying, receiving and possessing stolen property, as well as all attempts to commit any of these offenses.

Substance Use/Abuse Crimes: DWI, drug violations, liquor laws, and drunkenness.

Vandalism: Consists of the willful destruction, or defacement of property.

Weapon Law Violations: The violation of laws or ordinances dealing with weapon offenses, regulatory in nature, such as: manufacture, sale, or possession of deadly weapons; carrying deadly weapons, concealed or openly; furnishing deadly weapons to minors; aliens possessing deadly weapons; and all attempts to commit any of the aforementioned.

Total Offenses-Montana

The tribal agencies reporting in Montana included Blackfeet, Crow, Flathead, Fort Belknap, Fort Peck, and Northern Cheyenne.

There were 18,081 offenses reported in 2004 and 26,231 reported in 2005. The most common reported offenses, besides the catchall ‘all other violations,’ were: drunkenness, disorderly conduct, liquor laws, assault, and DWI.

Total Offenses – Washington

The tribal agencies reporting in Washington included: Chehalis, Colville, Hoh River, Kalispell, Quileute, Lummi, Makah, Nisqually, Nooksack, Pacific Northwest Columbia River, Port Gamble, Puget Sound, Puyallup, Quinault, Sauk Suiattle, Skokomish, Spokane, Stillaguamish, Suquamish, Tulalip, Upper Skagit, and Yakama.

There were 16,819 offenses reported in 2004 and 11,268 reported in 2005 for a total of 28,087. A major reason for the decline in 2005 in the number of reported offenses was because two larger populated reservation areas reported in 2004 but not in 2005. The most common reported offenses, outside ‘all other violations,’ were: larceny-theft, drug violations, suspicious person report, assault, domestic violence, and disorderly conduct.

Total Offenses – Idaho

The tribal agencies reporting in Idaho included: Coeur d’ Alene, Fort Hall, and Nez Perce.

There were 8,079 offenses reported in 2004 and 1,883 reported in 2005. The reason for the reduction in reporting offenses between 2004 and 2005 was a limited report received from Fort Hall in 2005. The most common reported offenses, outside ‘all other violations,’ were: drunkenness, suspicious person report, DWI, assault, disorderly conduct, liquor laws, drug violations, child abuse, and domestic violence.

BLACKFEET – MONTANA

The Blackfeet Reservation is located in northwest Montana, just east of Glacier National Park. The 1.5-million acre reservation includes many rivers, streams, and lakes and is home to about 8,681 members of the Blackfeet Nation, or about half of the total enrollment of some 15,640 members.<sup>4</sup> Enrolled members living away from the reservation reside mostly in the Pacific Northwest but some are as far away as Europe.<sup>5</sup>

Historically, the Blackfeet Tribe was the largest and most dominant Indian tribe in Montana. The origin of their name was probably derived from the blackened moccasins tribe members traditionally wore. The dark hue may have been painted purposely or may have been darkened by prairie fires. The Blackfeet originally lived north of the Great Lakes. After the arrival of the Europeans, the Blackfeet were one of the first Tribes to begin moving west. Soon they were roaming huge portions of the northern plains. After they arrived in the west, they shed their life of woodland hunters and gatherers and adopted the nomadic lifestyle of the Plains Indians.<sup>6</sup>

The governing body of the Blackfeet Tribe consists of a council known as the Blackfeet Tribal Business Council. This Council consists of nine members duly elected from the four (4) districts of the Blackfeet Indian Reservation. Any member of the Blackfeet Tribe eighteen years of age and older is eligible to vote when he or she presents himself or herself to the polling place wherein he or she is assigned to vote.<sup>7</sup>

The Blackfeet Nation has 11 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>8</sup>

BURNS PAIUTE-OREGON

The Burns Paiute Reservation is located north of Burns, Oregon, in Harney County. The current tribal members are primarily the descendants of the "Wadatika" band of Paiute Indians that roamed throughout central and southern Oregon.<sup>9</sup> With an enrollment of 339 and about 257 residents, the reservation now covers 930 acres of trust land, 320 acres of fee-patent land, and another 11,000 plus acres of allotted lands that are held in trust for individual Tribal members.<sup>10</sup>

The Northern Paiute ancestors (the Wada-Tika or Wadatika) were small peaceful bands who roamed extensively in central eastern Oregon. They were hunter-gatherers that once lived over vast areas of the northern sections of Oregon and Nevada. The ancient leaders governed without a formalized governmental structure or permanent chiefs.<sup>11</sup>

The government of the Burns Paiute Tribe consists of a General Council, including a chairman, vice chairman, secretary-treasurer, sergeant-at-arms, and two additional council members. The Council meets quarterly and approves all Tribal operations.<sup>12</sup>

The Burns Paiute Tribe has 3 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>13</sup>

CHEHALIS -WASHINGTON

The Chehalis Tribe's reservation lands are situated approximately 26 miles southwest of Olympia and 6 miles northwest of Centralia, Washington. Thurston and Grays Harbor Counties bisect the reservation's 4,216-acres.<sup>14</sup> The Confederated Tribes of the Chehalis have an enrollment of 688 with a service population of 3,437 living on or near the reservation.<sup>15</sup>

The Chehalis people historically occupied a large area within the Chehalis River watershed stretching from the foothills of the Cascade Mountains to the Pacific Ocean in southwest Washington. The Tribe has been located on the reservation within the Chehalis watershed since the 1850's. Important archeological sites are scattered throughout the Tribe's aboriginal area. "Chehalis" is a collective name for several Salish tribes that originally lived in the area.<sup>16</sup>

The Chehalis tribal governing body is the General Council, comprised of all enrolled members 18 years-of-age and older. The Council generally meets twice annually but may also convene special meetings. The Business Committee, a five-member body elected to office by the General Council for two-year terms, oversees tribal administration and business.<sup>17</sup>

The Chehalis Tribe has 7 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>18</sup>

COEUR D' ALENE-IDAHO

The Coeur d'Alene Indian Tribe, located in Idaho's panhandle, has an enrollment of 1,907 with a service population of about 1,210 residing on or near the reservation.<sup>19</sup> The tribe has sovereign authority on a reservation that covers 345,000 acres of land including mountains, lakes, timber and farmland. The reservation spans the western edge of the northern Rocky Mountains and the productive Palouse country.<sup>20</sup>

The name, "Coeur d'Alene," was given to the Tribe in the late 18th or early 19th century by French traders and trappers. In French, it means "Heart of the Awl," referring to the sharpness of the trading skills exhibited by tribal members in their dealings with visitors. In the ancient tribal language, members call themselves, "Schitsu'umsh," meaning "The Discovered People" or "Those Who Are Found Here."<sup>21</sup>

The Tribe has a government based on executive, legislative, and judicial branches. The tribal council has seven members and operates on a parliamentary system, with members elected by tribal vote and the chairperson elected by vote of the council. Although the chairperson serves as chief executive, he or she has one vote on the council and does not have veto power.<sup>22</sup>

The Coeur d'Alene Tribe has 12 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>23</sup>

COLVILLE-WASHINGTON

The Colville Indian Reservation land base covers 1.4 million acres or 2,100 square acres located in north central Washington, primarily in Okanogan and Ferry counties.<sup>24</sup> The Confederated Tribes of the Colville have an enrollment of 9,023 with a service population of the same number (9,023) living on or near the reservation.<sup>25</sup>

The reservation consists of Tribally-owned lands held in federal trust status for the Confederated Tribes, land owned by individual Colville tribal members (most of which is held in federal trust status), and land owned by others, described as fee property and taxable by the counties.<sup>26</sup>

Prior to the influx of Canadians and Europeans in the mid-1850s, the Colville ancestors were nomadic, following the seasons of nature and their sources of food. Their aboriginal territories were grouped primarily around waterways such as the Columbia River, the San Poil River, the Okanogan River, the Snake River and the Wallowa River. Many tribal ancestors traveled throughout their aboriginal territories and other areas in the Northwest (including Canada), gathering with other native peoples for traditional activities such as food harvesting, feasting, trading, and celebrations that included sports and gambling. The lives of the people were tied to the cycles of nature both spiritually and traditionally.<sup>27</sup>

The Confederated Colville Tribes have 23 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>29</sup>

COQUILLE-OREGON

The Coquille Tribe is located in southwest Oregon where the Coos River flows into Coos Bay.<sup>30</sup> The Tribe has an enrollment of 817 persons with 398 American Indians living on or near the reservation.<sup>31</sup> In 1856, they were forcibly moved to the Siletz Indian Reservation and Grand Ronde Indian Reservation lands. In 1954, the U.S. federal government terminated its recognition of the tribe, but in 1989 the tribe regained its federal recognition.<sup>32</sup>

Tribal members are descended from people who inhabited the watersheds of the Coquille River system, a portion of Coos Bay at the South Slough, and areas north and south of the mouth of Coquille River where it enters the ocean at present day Bandon. Coquille ancestral territory encompassed more than 700,000 acres, which was ceded to the U.S. Government. Coquille leaders signed the treaties in 1851 and 1855. Because the treaties were ratified by Congress, the Coquille people and their descendants were denied a permanent homeland until the modern Coquille Tribe negotiated several land purchases, totaling the current 6,400 acre tribal land base.<sup>33</sup>

The Tribal Council is the governing body of the Coquille Tribe. The Council is a seven-member body of elected officers, which sets policies and budgets and has oversight for governmental and economic activities and programs.<sup>34</sup>

The Coquille Tribe has 4 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>35</sup>

CROW-MONTANA

The Crow Reservation is located in south-central Montana, bordered by Wyoming on the south. The northwest boundary of the reservation is about ten miles from Billings. The Crow Reservation's eastern boundary is adjacent to the Northern Cheyenne Reservation. The reservation is approximately 60 miles wide and 40 miles in length, encompassing

1,574,394 acres.<sup>36</sup> About 75 percent of the Crow Tribe's approximately 10,927 enrolled members live on or near the reservation.<sup>37</sup>

The Crow Indians first entered Montana in the 1600s. They were part of the Hidatas people sharing their sedentary life, raising crops, and hunting wild game. As time evolved, they turned more to hunting and eventually became a nomadic people with their lives revolving around the buffalo. They became excellent horsemen and a prosperous people. The Crows have maintained their traditions and language with about 80 percent speaking their native language.<sup>38 39</sup>

The Crows have a general council form of government. All males over 20 and all females over 18 are members of the Tribal Council. In addition to the Council, four officers are elected for two-year terms.

There are 20 sworn law enforcement officers on the Crow Reservation.<sup>40</sup>

FLATHEAD-MONTANA

Situated in northwestern Montana, the Flathead Indian Reservation is located south of Kalispell and north of Missoula. Fertile valleys and towering mountain peaks surround the 1.2 million acres of the reservation. The reservation is home to the Confederated Salish and Kootenai tribes. The tribes are a combination of the Salish, the Pend d'Oreilles, and the Kootenai bands that lived in western Montana, northern Idaho, and eastern Washington in the early 1800's.<sup>41</sup> There are 7,029 enrolled tribal members. Tribal members are outnumbered by non-Indian people on the reservation by about four-to-one, and the total population (Native American and all other races/ethnicities) on the reservation is 19,014.<sup>42 43</sup>

The reservation includes the southern half of Flathead Lake, which provides excellent fishing and recreational opportunities. Before the arrival of Europeans, the tribes hunted and gathered plants over an area the size of many eastern states. Twice a year, the tribes made cooperative hunting trips over the Continental Divide to the buffalo herds of the Great Plains.<sup>44</sup>

The Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes have a Tribal Council with a tribal chairperson, an executive treasurer, an executive secretary, and an internal auditor.

FORT BELKNAP-MONTANA

Fort Belknap Indian Reservation is home to the Gros Ventre and the Assiniboine Tribes. The Fort Belknap Indian Reservation is located forty miles south of the Canadian border and twenty miles north of the Missouri River in Montana.<sup>47</sup> The Fort Belknap Indian Reservation encompasses an area consisting of 675,147 acres, which extends approximately 28 miles east and west and 35 miles north and south. The land is mostly rolling plains. The main industry is agriculture, consisting of small cattle ranches, raising alfalfa hay for feed and larger dry land farms. There are approximately 6,427 enrolled tribal members with about 4,834 living on or near the reservation.<sup>48</sup>

The Assiniboine speak a Siouan dialect, while the Gros Ventre's language belongs to the greater Algonquian linguistic family. The Assiniboine Tribe came from the Rainy Lake and Lake of the Woods area near the Canadian border, but moved to the northern plains in the early 1700s. Little is known of the Gros Ventre Tribe, which descended from the Arapaho. In the late 1700s they moved to the northern plains and became an ally with the Blackfeet.<sup>49</sup>

The Community Council is recognized as the governing body on the Fort Belknap Reservation. They are charged with the duty of protecting the health, security, and general welfare of the Fort Belknap Indian Community. The Fort Belknap Indian Community Council consists of the president and the vice president, who are elected to serve a four year term. Eight Council Members, consisting of four Gros Ventres and four Assiniboine members are elected every two years. The president and vice president appoint a secretary/treasurer, who serves four years.<sup>50</sup>

There are 12 sworn law enforcement officers on the Fort Belknap Reservation.<sup>51</sup>

FORT HALL-IDAHO

The Fort Hall Indian Reservation is located in eastern Idaho near Pocatello. The main agriculture activity on the reservation today is the cultivation of wheat and potatoes. The reservation has recently become the site of a casino, operated by the Shoshone-Bannock tribes, located along Interstate 15 north of Pocatello.<sup>52</sup> The Tribal enrollment is 4,844 with 13,947 American Indians living on or near the reservation.<sup>53</sup>

The Shoshone and Bannock, who were gathered to the Fort Hall Indian Reservation in the 1860s, once included all of southern Idaho as their homeland. In pre-contact times, they were not organized as tribes, but lived and worked together in bands or groups of related families based within a defined region. Even today, after more than a century of reservation life, individuals and families track themselves and others by whether they are Shoshone or Bannock or by the band from which they descend. Often assumed to be merely dialects, Shoshone and Bannock are actually two distinct languages. The Bannock speak a dialect of Northern Paiute, similar to the Northern Paiute spoken in Oregon from where it is believed they have emigrated within the last 250 years.<sup>54</sup>

The Shoshone and Bannock Tribes operate as a sovereign government which provides many services to tribal members and non-Indians with revenues from agriculture, business enterprises, tourism, and other operations. The Fort Hall Business Council includes seven members elected by the general membership to two-year terms.<sup>55</sup>

There are 16 sworn law enforcement officers on the Fort Hall Reservation.<sup>56</sup>

FORT PECK-MONTANA

There are 11,473 enrolled Assiniboine and Sioux Tribal members on the Fort Peck Indian Reservation with about 7,136 American Indians living on or near the reservation and another approximately 4,450 tribal members living off the reservation.<sup>57</sup> The Fort Peck Reservation is in northeastern Montana, forty miles west of the North Dakota border, and fifty miles south of the Canadian border, with the Missouri River defining its southern border. The reservation encompasses over two million acres of land.<sup>58</sup>

There are two distinct Tribes on the Fort Peck Reservation: the Lower Assiniboine and the Yanktoni Sioux. The Assiniboine are believed to be an offshoot of the Yanktoni Sioux, while the Sioux are from the middle band of the Sioux or the Nakotas.<sup>59</sup>

The Fort Peck Tribes are governed by an Executive Board consisting of 15 enrolled members, including a chairperson, vice-chairperson, sergeant-at-arms, and 12 voting members.<sup>60</sup>

HOH RIVER –WASHINGTON

The Hoh Reservation consists of 443 acres located 28 miles south of Forks, and 80 miles north of Aberdeen, Washington. The Hoh Reservation has approximately one mile of beach front running east from the mouth of the Hoh River, and south to Ruby Beach.<sup>62</sup> The Hoh River Indian Reservation has a Tribal enrollment of 167 with 172 American Indians living on or near the Reservation.<sup>63</sup>

The Hoh are considered to be part of the Quileute Tribe, although they are a separate tribal group. Although little ethnographic information was collected, the Hoh are heir to a rich cultural tradition.<sup>64</sup> The livelihood of the Hoh Indians is primarily fishing although a few of the residents make traditional baskets, carve canoes for ocean going or river use, and make other carvings. The local people dip for smelts on the beaches and use smokehouses for preserving food for future use. The tidelands are abundant with razor clams, butter clams, crab and perch fishing.<sup>65 66</sup>

The Hoh Indian Reservation was established by an Executive Order of September 11, 1963. The Hoh Tribe has formed a Tribal Government under Public Law 89-655, providing for a basic roll of tribal members. The Governing body is elected by secret ballot biannually in November.<sup>67</sup>

There are 2 sworn law enforcement officers on the Hoh River Reservation.<sup>68</sup>

KALISPEL INDIAN COMMUNITY – WASHINGTON

The Kalispel Reservation is approximately 4,600 acres on a narrow strip of land situated along the east bank of the Pend O'reille River in extreme northeast Washington. The current Kalispel Reservation is a very small portion of the original land of 4 million acres. The enrolled tribal membership is 364 and the Indian population living on or near the reservation is 198.<sup>69 70</sup>

During the mid to late 19th century, the Kalispel Tribe of Indians preserved its culture and way of life in the midst of increasing numbers of white settlers in the area. Roman Catholic priests began working with the Tribe in 1844. In 1855, the Upper Kalispel Tribe gave up its lands and moved to the Jocko Reservation in Montana at the request of the U.S. Government. The Lower Kalispel Tribe, of which today's Kalispel members are descendants, refused to give up its ancestral lands and continued to work toward an agreement that would allow the Tribe to remain on its homeland. Though Congress did propose a treaty in 1872, the terms were poor, and the Tribe refused to sign it. By 1874 Congress had stopped establishing treaties with Tribes altogether, leaving the Kalispel Tribe with no legal protection.<sup>71</sup> Eventually, federal protection was granted creating the modern day Kalispel Indian Reservation.<sup>72</sup>

The tribal government is administered by a seven-member Business Council whose members are elected to one-year terms.<sup>73</sup>

There are 5 sworn law enforcement officers on the Kalispel Reservation.<sup>74</sup>

LA PUSH 'QUILEUTE' – WASHINGTON

Surrounded on three sides by the Olympic National Park, the Quileute Reservation is located on 594 acres along the Pacific and on the south banks of the Quillayute River. The area is rich in outdoor recreational opportunities including ocean and river fishing, hiking, and hunting.<sup>75</sup> The enrolled tribal membership is 658, and the Indian population living on or near the reservation is 700.<sup>76</sup>

La Push, Washington is home to the Quileute Tribe. According to legend, the tribe was created from wolves by a supernatural transformer. The tribe's lineage stretches back thousands of years to the Ice Age, making them possibly the oldest inhabitants of the Pacific Northwest. Tribal members built cedar canoes that ranged in size from two-man to ocean-going freight vessels capable of carrying three tons. They ranked second only to the Makah as whalers, and first among all the tribes as sealers. Special woolly-haired dogs were bred, and their hair spun into prized blankets. According to the stories, the Quileutes only kin, the Chimacum, were separated from them by a great flood that swept them to the Quimper Peninsula on the other side of the North Olympic Peninsula, where they were wiped out by Chief Seattle and the Suquamish Tribe in the 1860s. The Quileute Tribe has recreated its traditional skills and crafts, that are taught at school along with the unique language, which is unrelated to any root language in the world, and one of only five in the world without nasal sounds.<sup>77</sup>

LUMMI – WASHINGTON

The Lummi Reservation is seven miles northwest of Bellingham, Washington, in the western portion of Whatcom County about 95 miles north of Seattle. The reservation is a five mile long peninsula which forms Lummi Bay on the west, Bellingham Bay on the east, with a smaller peninsula of Sandy Point, Portage Island and the associated tidelands. The Lummi Nation signed the Treaty of Point Elliot in 1855 ceding much of their aboriginal lands in western Washington. In return they received a reservation that originally covered 15,000 acres. Today, approximately 12,000 acres remain under Indian control.<sup>80</sup> The Tribal enrollment for the Lummi Nation is 4,096 with 4,976 American Indians living on or near the reservation.<sup>81</sup>

The Lummi people traditionally lived near the sea and in mountain areas and returned seasonally to their longhouses located at a number of sites on the present reservation and on the San Juan Islands. Smoke-dried seafood, camas bulbs, sun-dried berries and all species of shellfish, crab, salmon, trout, elk, deer, and other land and sea mammals made up the traditional Lummi diet. The Lummi people continue to speak the traditional Salishan language. Traditionally, they expressed their language and religious traditions through elaborate carvings on totems and ceremonies.<sup>82</sup>

The governing body of the tribe is the Tribal Business Council, which consists of 11 members elected to three-year terms by the General Council, which consists of all enrolled adult members of the tribe.<sup>83</sup>

The Lummi Nation has 17 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>84</sup>

MAKAH – WASHINGTON

The Makah Indian Reservation is located on the most northwesterly tip of Washington State. The reservation, which consists of 27,200 acres, is isolated from other communities within Clallam County, the Olympic Peninsula and Washington State in general. Clallam County's major commercial center and county seat, Port Angeles, is 75 miles from Neah Bay. Seattle is 150 miles away, and Forks, the closest town is 60 miles

The Makah were a maritime people who fished, found shellfish, and hunted whale. The people used cedar for clothing, basketry, and boxes. The Makah Tribe is part of the Nootkan culture group, which includes two other tribes in the group - the Westcoast and Nitinaht Tribes of Western Vancouver Island, British Columbia. The Makah is the only tribe in the US to speak a Wakashan language. The Makah had a highly developed representational art style, a stratified social order, and a specialized labor force. There were five major permanent villages in early times, but one of them (Ozette) was destroyed in a mud slide and its excavation has produced much knowledge about the culture.<sup>87</sup>

The tribe is governed by a five-person Tribal Council whose members are elected to three year terms by eligible tribal members. A council chairperson is elected by the five members of the tribal council.<sup>88</sup>

There are 7 sworn law enforcement officers on the Makaan Reservation.<sup>89</sup>

METLAKATLA – ALASKA

Metlakatla has a Tribal enrollment of 2,144 with about 1,211 American Indians living on or near the Reservation.<sup>90</sup> The Metlakatla Tribal population varies between the seasons. The area covers 130.2 square miles of land and 83.8 miles of water and is located on the west coast of Annette Island in Alaska about 15 miles south of Ketchikan.<sup>91</sup>

Metlakatla means "saltwater channel passage." The community of Metlakatla was founded in 1887 by a group of Tsimshian Indians from Canada. The Metlakatla Indian Community, located on the Annette Island Reserve, is the only Indian reservation in the State of Alaska. Access to Metlakatla is by air and water. The economic base includes fishing, seafood processing and services. The Metlakatla hatchery is one of the largest Indian hatcheries in the U.S. The Tribe was "almost" completely sustainable until the loss of the fish and timber industries. Additional areas of economic development interest include a bottled water company, tourism, and a potential prison on the other side of the island.<sup>92</sup>

NEZ PERCE – IDAHO

The Nez Perce Reservation consists of prairies, rivers and canyons, and is home to 3,300 enrolled Nez Perce Indians.<sup>95</sup> The Tribe's aboriginal territory included over 13 million acres of the areas now known as northern Idaho, northeastern Oregon and southeastern Washington. Today the Nez Perce own 86,248 acres of land and individual tribal members own an additional 37,950 acres. In 1887 the Dawes Act opened the reservation to homesteading that resulted in non-Indians owning parcels of fee-patented land within the reservation next to Indian trust allotments. The result of the Dawes Act is a "checkerboard" pattern of land ownership on the reservation and problems over jurisdiction.<sup>96</sup>

The Nez Perce people belong to the Sahaptin linguistic group of Northwest Plateau Region. In 1948, the Nez Perce Tribe became a self-governing body with an approved constitution and by-laws. The Nez Perce Tribal Executive Committee is composed of nine members distributed geographically throughout the reservation.<sup>97</sup>

The Nez Perce Tribal Executive Committee serves as the governing body on the Nez Perce Reservation. The Executive Committee, consisting of nine members elected at large, manages economic development and oversees social service programs, natural resources, and tribal investments.<sup>98</sup>

The Nez Perce Tribe has 17 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>99</sup>

NISQUALLY – WASHINGTON

The Nisqually Tribe is located on the Nisqually River in rural Thurston County, 15 miles east of Olympia, Washington. Tribal land holdings, on and near the Nisqually Reservation, exceed 1,000 acres – all of which have been reacquired in the past 25 years.<sup>100</sup>

The enrolled Tribal population is 525, and the American Indian population living on or near the reservation is 5,504.<sup>101</sup>

The original reservation was established by the Medicine Creek Treaty of December 26, 1854. The reservation consisted of 1,280 acres on Puget Sound. On January 20, 1856 an executive order enlarged it to 4,717 acres on both sides of the Nisqually River. On September 30, 1884 acreage was set aside and divided into 30 family allotments on both sides of the Nisqually River.<sup>102</sup>

On September 9, 1946 the Tribe's constitution and bylaws were approved. The constitution was amended in 1994. The governing body of the Tribe is the General Council comprised of all enrolled tribal members 18-years-of-age and older. The day-to-day business and economic affairs of the Tribe are overseen by a Tribal Council comprised of seven tribal members elected by the Tribe's voting membership.<sup>103</sup>

The Nisqually Tribe has 9 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>104</sup>

NOOKSACK – WASHINGTON

The Nooksack Indians live on about 2,500 acres of Tribal land in the Upper Nooksack River Valley, which is located in the northwestern section of Washington State.<sup>105</sup>

The enrolled population is 1,707 and the Indian population on or near the reservation is 825.<sup>106</sup>

Historically, the Nooksack people relied on fishing, hunting, clam digging, root gathering and trading with neighboring village peoples for their subsistence. Wealth and prestige within the Coast Salish system were closely allied with the expansion of a family's network of kinship, trading and ceremonial ties. The Nooksack language was predominant in much of the upper Fraser River Valley in British Columbia. In the spring and summer village groups would split up to fish, hunt, dig clams, gather roots and herbs and to trade with neighboring village peoples.<sup>107</sup>

The Nooksack Tribe is represented by an eight-member Tribal Council, which is elected annually as outlined by the tribal constitution. The council is presided over by a chairperson.<sup>108</sup>

The Nooksack Tribe has 8 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>109</sup>

grass covered low rolling hills to moderately high and steep hills and narrow valleys. Elevations on the reservation range from 3,000 to 5,000 feet above sea level. Much of the higher elevation is covered by Ponderosa Pine timber. The area is very well acclimated to farming and ranching, both of which are important to the economy of the Tribe.<sup>110</sup> The Tribal enrollment is 8,182 and the American Indian population living on or near the reservation is 5,068.<sup>111</sup>

The Cheyenne descend from the Algonquian language family. They are believed to have originally lived in the upper Great Lakes region, but later moved to the northern plains into what is now the Dakotas.<sup>112</sup>

The Tribes of the Northern Plains signed treaties in the 1800's with the United States which are the legal documents that established tribal land boundaries and recognized Tribal rights.<sup>113</sup> The Northern Cheyenne tribal lands were originally reduced to a reservation with defined boundaries by Executive Order of the President of the United States in 1884. The Northern Cheyenne Tribe was organized in 1936 and operates under a constitution consistent with the Indian Reorganization Act and approved by the Tribal membership. Today the Tribe is a Federally-chartered organization with both governmental and corporate responsibilities. The governing body is a Tribal Council headed by a President, who is elected at large to serve a term of 4 years.<sup>114</sup>

There are 9 sworn law enforcement officers on the Northern Cheyenne Reservation.<sup>115</sup>

PORT GAMBLE S'KLALLAM – WASHINGTON

The Port Gamble S'Klallam Reservation is located on the northern tip of the Kitsap Peninsula in Washington State. It is situated on Port Gamble Bay, which remains an important natural resource for Native Americans. The Tribal enrollment is 1,059 and the American Indian population living on or near the reservation is 1,243.<sup>116 117</sup>

For many years, the S'Klallam people lived between the Pacific Ocean and the inland waters of the Puget Sound. There were many small groups or bands of S'Klallam people who lived in villages near the rivers, ocean, or bays. Because of their geographical location, the S'Klallam people invested a great deal of their time in fishing. Since their territory comprised most of the northern Olympic Peninsula, they had access to a large number of rivers as well as the open waters of the Strait of Juan de Fuca. They also made seasonal migrations: north to the San Juan Island area, where they set up temporary

The tribe has an elected council that governs the affairs of its reservation. Also, the tribe is part of the inter-tribal No Point Treaty Council, which represents the three S'Klallam tribes.<sup>119</sup>

There are 5 sworn law enforcement officers on the Port Gamble Reservation.<sup>120</sup>

PUYALLUP – WASHINGTON

The Puyallup Tribal Reservation covers a few square miles within the city limits of Tacoma, Washington, and is located on Commencement Bay in the lower Puget Sound, 36 miles south of Seattle, 28 miles north of Olympia, and 18 miles from Seattle Tacoma International Airport.<sup>121</sup> The Puyallup Tribe has an enrollment of 3,224, and the American Indian population living on or near the reservation is 22,995.<sup>122</sup>

The Puyallup Tribe is part of the Puget Sound Salish Indian culture which flourished in the Pacific Northwest. They spoke the Puyallup Nisqually language. Salmon was the main food and important in their ceremonies. The Western Red Cedar was used abundantly for clothing, basketry, and lodging. They were fishermen, gathers, and hunters. The Puyallup Tribe established relations with the United States government on December 16, 1854, and soon thereafter they signed the Treaty of Medicine Creek. Article 10 of the Treaty provides for a physician to look after the healthcare of the Puyallup Tribe. The Puyallup Tribe believes medical care was guaranteed by the treaty, which ceded vast tracts of Tribal land and resources.<sup>123</sup>

Today, the Puyallup Tribe is governed by a seven member Tribal Council elected by the tribal members, who also act as the Board of Directors for Puyallup Tribal Health Authority.<sup>124</sup>

The Puyallup Tribe has 23 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>125</sup>

The Quinault Indian Nation has an enrollment of 2,454, and the American Indian population living on or near the reservation is 3,203.<sup>127</sup> Linguistically, these groups belong to three language families: Chimakuan (Quileute, Hoh), Chinookan (Chinook groups), and Salishan (Chehalis, Cowlitz, Queets, and Quinault). Like many Northwest Coast natives, the Quinault relied on fishing from local rivers and the Pacific Ocean for food and built plank houses (longhouses) to protect themselves from the harsh, wet winters. Salmon and steelhead fishing was the major economic activity of the Quinault people. In addition, the rich supply of timber played an important part in their lifestyle. In modern times, the Quinault Tribe members are a mixture of separate indigenous peoples including, the Quinault, Hoh, Chehalis, Chinook, Cowlitz, Queets, and Quileute peoples. Today, the Quinault Indian Nation operates a casino and seaside resort at Ocean Shores, Washington, and a high-quality seafood packing business at Taholah.<sup>128</sup>

The Tribe is governed by Tribal Council made up of all voting members of the nation. A business committee comprised of president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and seven council members, oversee the operation of the Tribe's businesses and programs.<sup>129</sup>

There are 9 sworn law enforcement officers on the Quinault Reservation.<sup>130</sup>

SAUK SUIATTLE – WASHINGTON

The reservation consists of two parcels in Skagit and Snohomish Counties in the State of Washington with a total of 23 acres.<sup>131</sup> The Sauk-Suiattle Tribe has an enrollment of 163, and the American Indian population living on or near the reservation is 156.<sup>132</sup>

The Sauk-Suiattle Indian Tribe is a Puget Sound Salish speaking group. Historically, the Tribal members lived along the Sauk and Suiattle rivers, tributaries of the Skagit River. The Tribe fished for salmon, a staple in their diet, in the Sauk, Suiattle, and Cascade Rivers by using gaff hooks, spears, and net and fish weirs. The Tribe also hunted game and gathered wild berries and roots. Like many of the coastal tribes the Sauk-Suiattle built permanent winter homes from split red cedar planks.<sup>133</sup>

The Tribe elects a seven member Tribal Council to staggered three-year terms. The Sauk-Suiattle Tribe has a constitution, by-laws, election ordinances, and law and order codes.<sup>134</sup> The Sauk Suiattle Indian Tribe's enrollment requirement is one quarter Indian

SILETZ – OREGON

The Confederated Tribes of Siletz is a federally recognized confederation of 27 bands originally ranging from Northern California to Southern Washington. The Tribes occupy and manage a 3,666 acre reservation located in Lincoln County, Oregon.<sup>137</sup> The town of Siletz is located along State Highway 229, and serves as the tribal headquarters.<sup>138</sup> The Confederated Tribes of Siletz have an enrollment of 4,034, and the American Indian population living on or near the reservation is 5,860.<sup>139</sup>

Termination (federal non-recognition) was imposed upon the Siletz by the United States Government in 1955. Achievement of Self Governance through congressional legislation occurred in 1992. This allowed the Confederated Tribes to compact directly with the United States Government, giving them control and accountability over Tribal programs and funding. In November 1977, the Confederated Tribes of Siletz was the second Tribe in the United States and the first in Oregon to be restored to federal recognition. Today, the Tribes manage their own resources including timber, water, and fish.<sup>140</sup> The confederated tribes are governed by a nine-member popularly elected Tribal Council, a General Council, and an 8-member Tribal Court.<sup>141</sup>

The Confederated Tribes of Siletz have a contract with the Toledo City Police Department for law enforcement services.<sup>142</sup>

SKOKOMISH – WASHINGTON

The enrolled population of the Skokomish is 705, and the Indian population living on or near the reservation is 1,393.<sup>143</sup> The reservation is located southwest of Hood Canal on both sides of US 101 north of Shelton in Mason County, Washington.<sup>144</sup>

What is now known as the Skokomish Tribe was primarily composed of Twana Indians, a Salishan people whose aboriginal territory encompassed the Hood Canal drainage basin in western Washington State. The Tribe's first recorded direct contact with European culture came in 1792 and resulted in a devastating smallpox epidemic that took the lives of many. There were nine Twana communities, the largest being known as the Skokomish, or "big river people." The Twana subsisted on hunting, fishing and gathering activities, practicing a nomadic life-style during warmer weather and resettling at permanent sites during the winter. Twana descendants live on the Skokomish Reservation, and all have become known as the Skokomish Tribe.<sup>145</sup>

The tribe is governed by a Tribal Council, composed of seven members who serve four-year terms, and oversee the operation of the tribe's businesses and programs.<sup>146</sup>

The Skokomish Tribe has 13 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>147</sup>

SPOKANE – WASHINGTON

The Spokane Reservation is located on the north bank of the Spokane River northwest of Spokane, Washington. The west end of the reservation is directly across the Columbia River from southeast corner of Colville Reservation. The Spokane Tribe's Reservation consists of 154,000 acres of which 90% is held in trust by the federal government.<sup>148</sup>

The Spokane Tribe has an enrollment of 2,305, and the American Indian population living on or near the reservation is 2,246.<sup>149</sup>

The Spokane Tribe of Indians' ancestors were the Spokan, a plateau people that shared numerous cultural traits with their neighbors. The original Spokanes' language is a part of the Salish language family, and they are often categorized as a Salishan tribe. For unrecorded millennia, the Spokane tribe lived in the area around the Spokane River, leading a seasonal way of life consisting of fishing, hunting, and gathering endeavors. The Spokane people shared their territory and language with several other Tribes, including the Colville, Flathead, and Kalispel Tribes.<sup>150</sup>

The Tribe is governed by a five-person tribal council elected to varying terms (one-, two-, or three-year) of service. The Spokane Business Council oversees the operation of the tribe's businesses and programs.<sup>151</sup> located primarily on a 40-acre site with housing and tribal offices. Altogether, the reservation consists of 76 acres.<sup>153</sup> The Stillaguamish Tribe has an enrollment of 182, and the American Indian population living on or near the reservation is the same number (182).<sup>154</sup>

The Spokane Tribe has 8 sworn law enforcement officers.<sup>152</sup>

The Stillaguamish Tribe comprises descendants of the Stoluckwamish (river people) River Tribe. Given the mild climate, the men and children needed clothing only in the winter. The women wore garments fashioned with cedar bark. They harvested salmon and other seafood, gathered berries and roots, and hunted goats in the Cascades. The Tribe petitioned the Secretary of the Interior to acknowledge them for recognition as an Indian Tribe in 1974. On October 27, 1976, they achieved federal recognition and treaty rights, and were made eligible for federal services.<sup>155</sup>

SUQUAMISH – WASHINGTON

The Port Madison Indian Reservation is located on the Kitsap Peninsula in Washington State. Situated on the waterfront across the Puget Sound from Seattle, the reservation is home to the Suquamish people. The reservation is in the heart of a rural residential area. It is one of the few Indian reservations in the country with two geographic sections separated by a land mass. The northeastern part of the reservation is anchored by the rural waterfront village of Indianola, while the southwestern portion is centered around the historic waterfront village of Suquamish. The reservation consists of over 7,486 acres that contain tribal trust lands, individually and collectively owned trust lands, historic allotments held in trust, and fee lands owned by Indians and non-Indians.<sup>157</sup> The Suquamish Tribe has an enrollment of 863, but the American Indian population living on or near the reservation is much higher at 3,783.<sup>158</sup>

The Puget Sound area was inhabited by indigenous Native Americans of several tribes, bands and clans before Anglo-Europeans arrived. The Suquamish Nation existed for thousands of years before a county government was formed in the area (1857) or Washington became a state (1889). Currently, the sovereign nation still exists with its seat of government at the Suquamish Tribal Center near the rural waterfront village of Suquamish.<sup>159</sup>

The tribal government operates under a constitution and bylaws adopted in 1965. The Suquamish General Council meets twice a year and is composed of all enrolled tribal

YAKAMA – WASHINGTON

The Yakama Indian Reservation is comprised of 1,371,918 acres covering 1,573 square miles in the south-central Washington counties of Klickitat and Yakima.<sup>179</sup> The enrolled tribal population is 9,687 and the Indian population living on or near the reservation is 16,317.<sup>180</sup> The Yakama Nation is a federation of formerly autonomous tribes, bands and villages in the south-central region of what is now Washington State.<sup>181</sup>

The members of the Yakama Nation have historically depended on the Columbia River and salmon for their sustenance. Although the Yakamas ceded 10,828,800 acres of ancestral homeland to the U.S. government, they reserved their right to hunt, fish, access and use traditional cultural sites, gather traditional foods and medicines, pasture stock and have sufficient quantity and quality of water in all of their "usual and accustomed places" within this ceded area. Traditional routes for subsistence were, and continue to be on the Columbia River, starting above Priest Rapids to the traditional fishing site on Celilo Falls, and extending west on the lower Columbia River beyond the Klickitat River tributary.<sup>182</sup>

The Yakama Reservation and its members are governed by the Yakama Nation Tribal Council. Each tribe and band elects representatives to the Yakama Nation Tribal Council. Self-government was re-established in 1935. All enrolled Yakamas become voting members of the General Council on their eighteenth birthday.<sup>183</sup>

There are 31 sworn law enforcement officers on the Yakama Reservation.<sup>184</sup>
