

Natural Hazards Science: Reducing America's Risk

“ Senator Inouye and I are concerned about the devastating effects of tsunamis and earthquakes on our communities. We want a dependable national tsunami warning system that will provide maximum detection for the nation to help reduce the loss of life and economic impact caused by these natural hazards.”

Senator Ted Stevens, Chairman, United States Senate