Migrant and Seasonal Farmworkers Employment and Training Services

The National Farmworkers Jobs Program provides employment, training, and support services to alleviate chronic unemployment and underemployment among migrant and seasonally employed farmworkers. This program is intended to help these workers and their families improve their living standards and achieve self-sufficiency.

Services include skills assessment, job-search assistance, career planning, and emergency assistance. More intensive services such as basic education and job training are designed to help individuals acquire skills to obtain employment outside of farmwork or better agricultural jobs. Additional services for at-risk and out-of-school youth between the ages of 14 and 21 are provided under the Migrant and Seasonal Farmworker Youth Program. These services are available to economically disadvantaged seasonal or migrant farmworkers who are engaged in agricultural work in the United States at One-Stop Centers across the country.

Funds to support these services are awarded competitively to grantees, who provide services at the local level. The program is currently authorized under the Workforce Investment Act. Approximately 40,000 individuals receive services under this program. Further information is available at <http://www.wdsc.org/msfw/>.
