I object to liberalizing the U.S.-origins standard, I buy as much United States Products as I find things made otherwise a shoddy and poorly made.

I want the "Made-in-USA" label to be put on things made in the United States of America.

It seems enough factories have left America to countries where slave labor at poor prices then returned to us and charged high prices but the products are shoddy and do not last very long.

So let's keep "Made in USA" label for us and products made here by Americans.
