Dear Sir,

After reading an article in the "Sheet Metal Workers' Journal" regarding the "Made In The USA" label, I could not understand why it should even be considered to put this on items made in other countries.

This is a label of pride in USA workmanship, not to be put on products made in other countries with cheap labor enabling companies to make more money at the expense of child labor and long hours, which are not conducive to good products.

Save this label for items produced in our country.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Joann Coffey
