

To Whom it May Concern,

I am writing in response - to the proposed new guidelines for the "Made in USA" label on products made and sold in the U.S. I don't feel that the proposed 75% domestic content is enough. I would not like to see that passed unless the % of U.S. content is increased to 90-100%. The citizens of this country need to know if something is made in this country or not and then they can decide whether or not to make their purchase. Maybe there could also be added to the label the actual % of that particular item made in this country. Please don't do an injustice to American blue collar workers who don't have the skills for high-tech or other good paying jobs.

Thank You for Your Consideration in this Matter.

David Cameron.
