

8/7/97

Federal Trade Commission
Pennsylvania Ave. @ 6th St. N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20580

Gentlemen: "MADE IN USA"

Just to say above sounds great is one step because anything other than this to me, would be fraudulent.

The global competition people should produce top quality goods such as our people do in the USA. Then one day the need for such flexibilities should not be required.

Why should the manufacturers in USA be penalized for foreign goods that don't come near our USA standards. In fact, why are you permitting so much foreign junk to come in here. Get all our USA manufacturers in full force & stop letting rest of world take all we have by their cheap made junk.

No Sir, if the label you propose reads Made in USA it should be 100% not 75% made and I am one of those consumers you don't want deceived by such a label but let me tell you, I am. To think such label is even being considered sickens me. Our standards have been lowered so already and now here you come with more downgrading through these proposed Made in USA labels.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Lou Weindel

Mrs. Lou Weindel
403 McKeough Ave.
Saraland, AL 36571

P.S.: I'm sorry my writing isn't great right now. I'm at present a quinea pig, 50x111 experimental for pain. Been in ^{chronic} pain 47 yrs. so have way to go yet, at least I can sit longer & sleep better. Have synMed Pump feeding to lumbar spine. Am fighting side effects dizzy - mind confusion right now but they assure me I'll be OK. Just 74 so may yet be able one day to be able to walk a little even if need my old Can. crutches.