The Cleveland Plain Dealer printed an article stating the Federal Trade Commission wishes to receive consumer comments regarding a Telemarketer's petition that would allow pre-recorded sales calls to established customers--even those listed on the Do Not Call Registry.

We are emphatically against all telephone sales calls period--pre-recorded or by voice. We don't understand why "do not call" doesn't mean "do not call!" This also applies to political calls. Why are they exempt?

We're tired of arriving home to find unwanted messages cluttering our answering machine.
