

Fulbright Day of Service Video Transcript

MUSIC: Soft music in background plays throughout video

TEXT: White text on black screen:

“Fulbright Foreign Student Program participants met in Washington, DC from Feb. 11-15, 2009 for an enrichment seminar focusing on social entrepreneurship. The students took part in community service projects across the city with the help of Greater DC Cares.”

TEXT: Blue text over image of Fulbrighters filling paper bags with food:

“Fulbright Service Day February 13, 2009”

VIDEO: Clips of Fulbright students posing as a group and smiling for the camera and a student hammering nails.

VIDEO: Group leader talking to students

AUDIO: Group leader: “As we get towards that way, I’ll show you where the motorcycle is and we gotta bring that puppy up...”

VIDEO: Clips of Fulbright students cleaning walls, picking up trash outside, and sanding wood.

TEXT: White text on black screen:

Fulbright enrichment seminars are an integral part of the Fulbright experience because they support the overall goal of the program – to promote mutual understanding between the people of the United States and people of other countries.

VIDEO: Clips of Fulbright students working inside, applying stain to a wood deck, pulling a motorcycle out of a creek, and filling paper bags with food.

TEXT: White text on black screen:

The purpose of this Fulbright Day of Service was to inspire the Fulbright Students to be active in programs that promote social development when they return home.

VIDEO: Clips of students painting walls, moving a bookcase, staining a wood deck, and posing as a group while waving to the camera and smiling.

TEXT: Blue text animates onto a black screen:

For more information go to exchanges.state.gov

TEXT: White text on a black screen:

The Fulbright Program is the U.S. government's flagship international exchange program. Since 1946, it has provided approximately 294,000 participants – chosen for their academic merit and leadership potential – with the opportunity to study, teach and conduct research, exchange ideas and contribute to finding solutions to shared international concerns. For more information, visit Fulbright.state.gov

Fade to black.