

Rear Admiral Daniel A. Neptun Commander Coast Guard Personnel Service Center Arlington, VA

Rear Admiral Neptun is a veteran of over 34 years of Coast Guard service at units along the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, plus tours in the Caribbean and the Great Lakes. He enlisted in the Coast Guard in 1974. In his first assignments, he served as a Boatswain's Mate and Surfman at Station Willapa Bay in Tokeland, WA and then Station Grays Harbor in Westport, WA.

After graduating from Officer Candidate School in 1979, he was assigned to the Coast Guard's 13th District Office in Seattle, WA as Assistant Director of Auxiliary. He then transferred to Group Cape Hatteras, NC as Deputy Group Commander. In 1985, he took charge of a Technical Assistance Field Team in the Eastern Caribbean. There, he was responsible for providing operational training, maintenance support, and coordination for Naval Security Assistance initiatives within six Eastern Caribbean countries.

Next, he transferred back to the 13th Coast Guard District in Seattle, WA as planning officer for the newly formed Maritime Defense Zone Sector Pacific Northwest. He served in this position for two years and then transferred to Station Cape Disappointment, WA as Commanding Officer. In August 1992, he reported for duty to the 7th Coast Guard District Search and Rescue Branch in Miami, FL and managed the district's search and rescue program, using resources from the Coast Guard air stations and groups from South Carolina to Puerto Rico.

Rear Admiral Neptun was next assigned to Coast Guard Group Buffalo, NY as Group Commander, responsible for most Coast Guard activities along the St. Lawrence Seaway, Lake Ontario, and eastern Lake Erie. Following this assignment, he received the opportunity to attend the Naval War College in Newport, RI. Upon graduation from the Naval War College, he transferred to Coast Guard Integrated Support Command Miami, FL where he served as Executive Officer, responsible for coordinating support requirements for the 7th Coast Guard District. In his next assignment at the Coast Guard Personnel Command in Washington, DC he served as Chief, Enlisted Personnel Division, responsible for advancement, assignment, separation, and retirement processes for the Coast Guard's enlisted workforce. He was next assigned to Coast Guard Group St. Petersburg, FL where he served as Group Commander for 15 units assigned to various locations along Florida's west coast, responsible for search and rescue, maritime homeland security, maritime law enforcement, and aids to navigation missions, and worked closely with interagency partners. He was next assigned to Coast Guard Pacific Area in Alameda, CA where he served as Chief of Staff for Coast Guard units assigned across the Pacific Theater. Next, he was assigned to Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington, DC where he served as the Coast Guard's Director of Personnel Management. In March 2009, he reported on board the Coast Guard Personnel Service Center in Arlington, VA where he currently manages most of the Coast Guard's Human Resources field activities, from accession of new military personnel to retired members' pay and benefits
