EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

During the reporting period, six final reports were issued dealing with the J-1 Visa Waiver program. Draft reports for nine grants are currently out for agency comment. Additionally, a peer review was completed of the Federal Election Commission's OIG office.

Three soon to be issued audits are evaluating issues of grant compliance with grant terms, federal regulations and internal controls. Another upcoming audit report deals with ARC's grant management system. Current work will include a review of ARC's grants management. We will be analyzing the completeness and effectiveness of ARC's grant policies and procedures in controlling the activities of ARC administered grants.

During the reporting period, the IG served on the Executive Council on Integrity and Efficiency.

I. INTRODUCTION

The Inspector General Act Amendments of 1988 (P.L. 100-504) provides for the establishment of an Office of Inspector General (OIG) at 30 designated Federal entities, including the ARC. The ARC OIG became operational on October 1, 1989, with the appointment of an IG and provision of budgetary authority for contracted audit and/or investigation activities.

II. BACKGROUND

A. APPALACHIAN REGIONAL COMMISSION

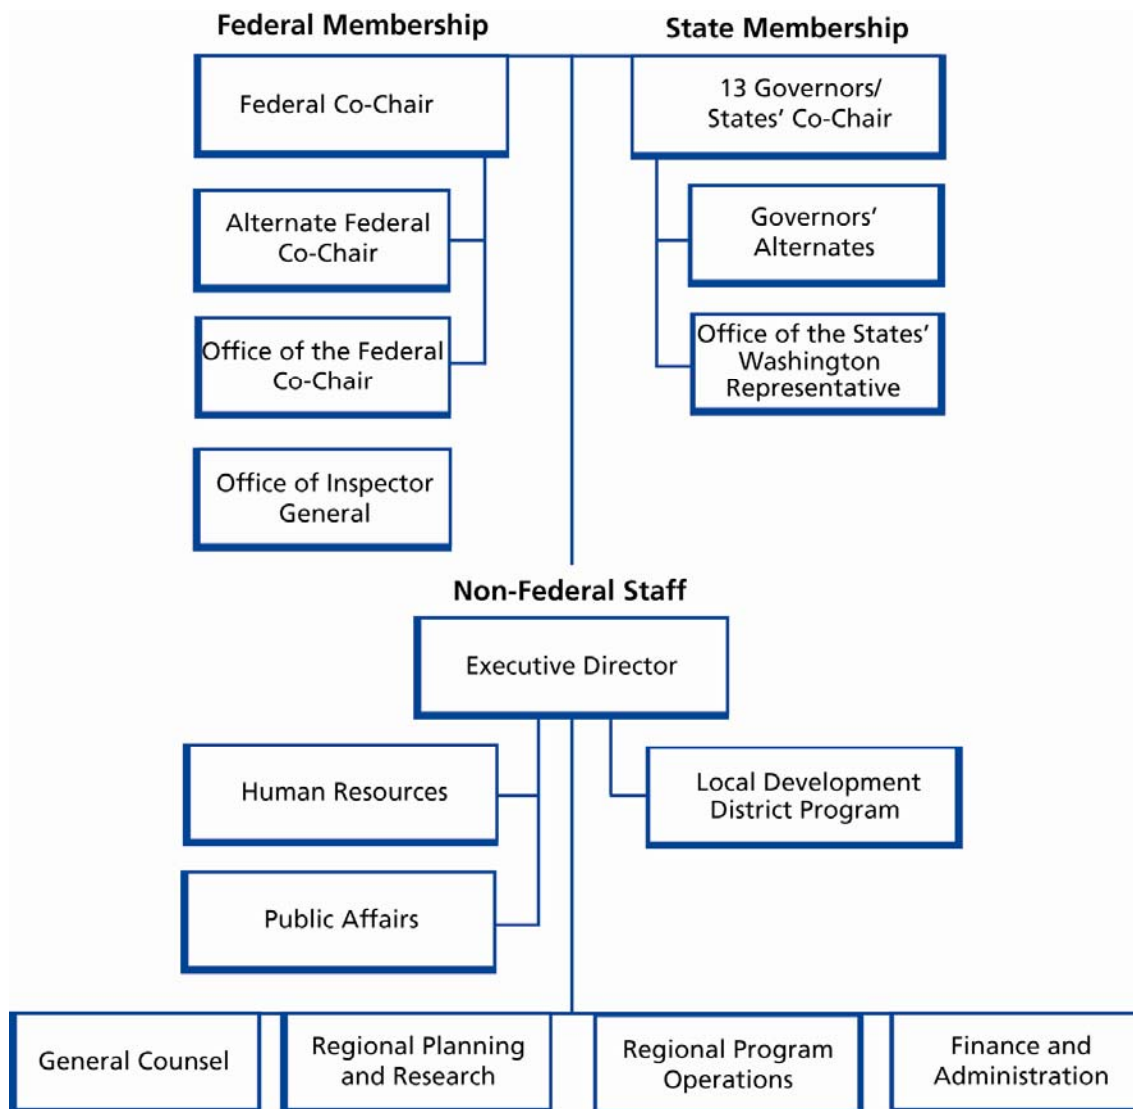

The Appalachian Regional Development Act of 1965 (P.L. 89-4) established the Appalachian Regional Commission. The Act authorizes a Federal/State partnership designed to promote long-term economic development on a coordinated regional basis in the 13 Appalachian States. The Commission represents a unique experiment in partnership among the Federal, State, and local levels of Government and between the public and private sectors. It is composed of the Governors of the 13 Appalachian States and a Federal representative who is appointed by the President. The Federal representative serves as the Federal Co-Chair with the Governors electing one of their numbers to serve as the States' Co-Chair.

- Through joint planning and development of regional priorities, ARC funds are used to assist and encourage other public and private resources to address Appalachia's unique needs. Program direction and policy are established by the Commission (ARC Code) with the vote of a majority of the State members and the affirmative vote of the Federal Co-Chair. Emphasis has been placed on highways, infrastructure development, business enterprise, and human resources programs.
- Administratively, the Office of the Federal Co-Chair, with a staff of 11, and the Commission, with a staff of 45, is responsible for ARC operations. The States maintain an Office of States' Representative (2 persons) that has primarily liaison responsibilities. All personnel are located in Washington, DC. The Commission staff's administrative expenses, including salaries, are funded jointly by Federal and State funds; the States' Representative staff is funded entirely by the States; and the Federal Office staff is funded entirely from Federal funds.
- The Commission's appropriation for FY 2008 is $ 73.032 million. ARC was reauthorized in March 2002. In addition, Section 1101 of the Safe, Accountable, Flexible, and Efficient Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy for Users (SAFETEA-LU) provides annual authorizations of $470 million for construction of the Appalachian Development Highway System (ADHS), under Section 201 of the 1965 Appalachian Regional Development Act, for a total of $2.35 billion over the five-year period, FY 2005 through FY 2009, from the Highway Trust Fund. Although these funds are derived from the Highway Trust Fund they remain under ARC's programmatic jurisdiction.

Program funds are distributed to state and local entities in accordance with an allocation formula intended to provide fair and reasonable distribution of available resources. ARC staff has responsibilities for program development, policy analysis and review, grant development, technical assistance to States, and management and oversight.

- In order to avail itself of federal agency expertise and administrative capability in certain areas, ARC often relies on other departments and agencies for program administration, especially with respect to highways and infrastructure projects. For example, the Appalachian Regional Development Act authorizes the Secretary of Transportation to administer the Commission's highway programs with the Commission retaining responsibility for priorities, highway locations, and fund allocations.

ARC ORGANIZATION CHART

B. OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL

Role and Authority

The Inspector General Act of 1978 (P.L. 95-452), as amended in 1988, states that the IG is responsible for (1) audits and investigations; (2) review of legislation; and (3) recommendation of policies for the purpose of promoting economy and efficiency in the administration of, or preventing and detecting fraud and abuse in, the program and operations of the establishment. In this regard, the IG is responsible for keeping the Federal Co-Chair and Congress fully informed about the problems and deficiencies in ARC programs and operations and the need for corrective action. The IG has authority to inquire into all ARC programs and activities that are federally funded. The inquiries may be in the form of audits, surveys, investigations, personnel security checks, or other appropriate methods. The two primary purposes of these inquiries are (1) to assist all levels of ARC management by identifying and reporting problem areas, weaknesses, or deficiencies in procedures, policies, program implementation, and employee conduct and (2) to recommend appropriate corrective actions.

Relationship to Other Principal ARC Offices

The States' and Federal Co-Chairs, acting together as the Commission, establish policies for ARC's programs and its administration. These policies are codified in the ARC Code and implemented by the Commission staff, which is responsible for monitoring project performance and providing technical assistance as needed. The Federal Co-Chair, as the Federal fiscal officer, is responsible for the proper use and protection of Federal funds, for ensuring compliance with applicable Federal laws and regulations, and for taking appropriate action on conditions needing improvement, including those reported by the OIG. The operations of the OIG neither replace established lines of operating authority nor eliminate the need for the Commission offices to take reasonable measures to protect and enhance the integrity and effectiveness of their operations. All Commission offices are responsible for monitoring and evaluating the programs entrusted to them and reporting information or incidences needing further audit and/or investigation to the IG.

Funding and Staffing

The OIG funding level for FY 2008 is $486,000. For FY 2008, approximately 44 percent was used for contract audit services, 46 percent for salaries and benefits, 2 percent for travel, and 8 percent for all other activities (training, equipment, space, supplies, etc.).

Staffing consists of the Inspector General, an Assistant Inspector General for Audit, and a confidential assistant. Grant review activities continue to emphasize use of contracted services (e.g., independent public accounting firms or other OIG offices) supplemented by programmatic and performance reviews directed by OIG staff. Investigative assistance is provided by other OIG offices on an as-needed basis through memoranda of understanding. This approach is deemed the most appropriate to date in view of the nature of ARC operations and limited resources. During the most recently passed reporting period, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) OIG conducted a computer security review of ARC operations at our request.

III. OIG ACTIVITY

A. AUDITS & REVIEWS

During the reporting period, six reports were issued dealing with the J-1 Visa Waiver program. Three audits soon to be issued are investigating grant compliance with the terms of the grant and internal controls. Another audit soon to be completed concerns ARC's grant management system. All issued reports can be found on the OIG website <http://www.arc.gov/index.do?nodeId=2060>.

J-1 Visa Waiver (Physicians) Program

During the reporting period, six reports were issued dealing with compliance requirements of the J-1 Visa Waiver Program. The program includes requirements that J-1 physicians provide primary care services in an Appalachian Health Profession Shortage Area for 40 hours per week, regardless of the physician's specialty. Audit findings include insufficient time provided by the doctor and/or practice in the location approved; lack of required notices stating that Medicare, Medicaid and indigent patient care will be provided; and other issues. In all cases, the issues were resolved.

Audit of ARC's Grant Management System

Our office initiated an audit of ARC's grant management guidance. During the course of the audit, we became interested in how grant data was process by ARC's grant management system, ARC.net. Accordingly, a second audit was undertaken dealing with how the system was established, how data was (and is) recorded and summarized, and how information is accessed and utilized. The results of the audit were not finalized as of March 31, 2008- report issuance is planned for April 2008.

2007 Financial Statement Audit

The Appalachian Regional Commission's financial statements are audited by an outside independent auditor. The OIG monitors the activities of the auditor to help ensure compliance with applicable statutes, OMB guidelines, and auditing standards. Performance and Accountability Report submissions to OMB, to include the financial statement audit, were required by November 15th for 2007. However, because of a change in OMB reporting requirements and ARC's unique relationship with other agencies, obtaining an audit opinion became unachievable.

Effective for fiscal years beginning in 2007, the parent agency (ARC in this situation) is required to report on the use and status of funds transferred to the child agencies. This created two problems for ARC which were not resolved (despite managements concerted efforts), getting activity and balance reports from the child agency, and obtaining an understanding and then confidence in the internal controls of the child agency, especially when the amount of funds transferred to the child is insignificant to the child (and below levels of audit materiality) but is significant to the parent. For FY 2007, ARC's auditor has informed management that it plans to disclaim an opinion on the financial statements, and management has made plans to issue the financial statements, "as is." The auditability of FY 2008 financial statements remains in question.

Peer Review

Offices of Inspectors General (OIGs) are required to perform (and undergo) reviews of other OIG offices every three years to ensure policies and/or procedural systems are in place that provide reasonable assurance of compliance with auditing standards and policies. ARC completed a peer review of the Federal Election Commission OIG and issued a report on its system of quality controls on March 28, 2008.

Telecommunications Audits

Draft reports on telecommunications issues are awaiting agency comment. These reports are on grants to Connect Kentucky, Pickens County (Alabama) Board of Education, Hancock County (Tennessee) and Mission West Virginia, Inc.

B. INVESTIGATIONS

The Inspector General Act of 1978, as amended, provides that the IG may receive and investigate complaints or information concerning the possible existence of an activity constituting a violation of law, rules, or regulations; mismanagement; gross waste of funds; or abuse of authority. The OIG does not employ criminal investigators. When the need has arisen, the matter would be referred to the Federal Bureau of Investigation or assistance would be contracted with another Federal OIG. Also, the results of investigations may be referred to the appropriate Federal, State, or local prospective authorities for action.

As a result of the computer security review performed by the DHS OIG, an investigation was opened and certain personnel actions taken. The investigation is still awaiting the resolution of a referral to another law enforcement agency. ARC itself has taken all necessary actions resulting from the audit and subsequent investigation.

In 2006, the OIG referred a case involving $500,000 in ARC funding and potential contracting violations and kickbacks to the Tennessee Valley Authority's OIG for investigation. The investigation is still ongoing.

C. OTHER

OIG Policy Manual

During this period and for the next several months, ARC OIG will be involved in re-writing its policy manual. The manual is being updated to reflect changes made to generally accepted governmental auditing standards and other issues affecting our operating environment. Of special consideration are recent changes related to internal controls, fraud considerations, ethical issues, and computerization of audit processes.

Electronic Audit Work papers

ARC-OIG is aware of the benefits of electronic work papers for improving audit efficiency. In particular, we believe that an improved indexing, and numbering system, together with an improved supervisory review structure could be beneficial. We have recently reviewed some electronic work papers systems and are continuing to gather information in anticipation of the purchase of the most effective system for our use.

Going Green

ARC management has implemented green measures within the organization's internal operations. For example, a new document scanning system has been linked to ARC's e-mail system. Management, in a written response to our draft report on ARC's grant management system stated, "We have had preliminary discussion with our state partners about the need to move to a paperless application process, and will pursue this more vigorously within this fiscal year."

Reduction in paper utilization can reduce cost, improve the timeliness of management decisions through better document storage and retrieval, and helps to reduce demands on our earth's ecological systems.

Our office, in alignment with ARC's management's initiative, is committed to "going green" and we will attempt in future periods to issue our communications, and perform and transmit more work electronically, e.g., reports, including semiannual reports, audit reports from contracted auditors, and audit workpapers will be issued or maintained electronically, to the extent possible.

IV. OIG HOTLINE

A region wide toll-free hotline was previously established to enable direct and confidential contact with the ARC OIG in line with governmental and longstanding OIG initiatives as identified in the IG Act of 1978; to afford opportunities for identification of areas subject to fraud, waste, or abuse. However, contacts with the ARC OIG relative to public complaints or concerns continue to be primarily received through ARC staff, on regular OIG phone lines, or from other OIG offices.

Also, numerous hotline calls were received with respect to matters for which other agencies have jurisdiction. This resulted primarily from the ARC OIG hotline apparently being the first such OIG listing in some telephone directories, resulting in ARC OIG being contacted by citizens who did not know the appropriate agency for handling their concerns. The ARC OIG facilitated the complaint process by identifying the applicable agency based on complainant information and providing the correct OIG hotline number.

V. LEGISLATIVE AND REGULATORY REVIEW

Primary efforts in this area continued to be related to potential legislative initiatives with respect to OIG operations. The ARC OIG continues to support legislation that would provide improved protections for IGs, including appointee and career IGs, by consideration of alternatives such as removal for cause criteria and term limits as well as the prohibition of acceptance of bonuses. The majority of legislative review is performed by the PCIE/ECIE legislation committee which forwards the consensus remarks to the appropriate bodies.
