

Postdoctoral Position in Ultra High Mass Spectrometer Instrumentation

Chemical Science Division
Oak Ridge National Laboratory
Oak Ridge, Tennessee

ORNL09-87-CSD

A postdoctoral position is available in the Chemical Sciences Division at Oak Ridge National Laboratory for R&D related to developing Ultra High Mass Spectrometer Instrumentation. Applicants who have a Ph.D. and experience with ion trap, time-of-flight, aerosol, and electrospray instrumentation as well as a background in physics, physical chemistry, analytical chemistry or other appropriate training may apply.

The successful candidate should be highly motivated, safety conscious, and have superior laboratory skills. Excellent oral and written communication skills are required, and a track record of presentations and publication of scientific results in peer-reviewed journals is expected. Applicants must have the ability to work in a team and interact effectively with a broad range of colleagues. Demonstrated ability to communicate in English to an international scientific audience is essential. Applicants must have received their most recent degree within the past three years and all degree requirements must be completed before starting their appointment.

How to Apply:

This appointment is offered through the ORNL Postdoctoral Research Associates Program and is administered by Oak Ridge Associated Universities (ORAU).
