National Archives Open House

Tuesday, October 14th

Noon – 2:00 pm

Experience the National Archives and join us on the outstanding journey that tells the story of America. Our open house will include an overview of our education, genealogy and other outreach programs available at our New York office. This year we also feature a session on the newly launched "Digital Vaults" followed by a tour of our archival stacks and repository.

Come share in your nation's history!

Schedule of Events:

12:00 – Welcome and Opening Remarks

12:15 – Digital Vaults Workshop

1:15 – Repository and Archival Stack Tour

The National Archives—New York City welcomes you to participate in this special event to celebrate your local community, your local history, and your local National Archives.

The National Archives—New York City holds more than 94,000 cubic feet of historical records from the 1680s to the 1990s. Our records cover such essential topics as immigration, the Civil War, inventions, constitutional rights, organized crime, and the New Deal among countless others.
