

I work for a banking regulator and I have seen the differences in reports prepared and given to a consumer and those generated for a lender and the differing information on each. The FTC should require that the consumer be given the exact, same, credit report that the lender received.

Cuidate,

Cora Lee Page

Consumer Affairs Specialist