Dear Friends,

Representing you in the United States Congress continues to be one of the greatest honors of my life. I try to remind myself each day that America is first and foremost an ideal; that all human beings are created equal, and that government's responsibility is to protect our people and their God-given rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

It should never escape us that there are those who do not "hold these truths to be self-evident" and seek to destroy the American ideal through terrorism, judicial activism and the destruction of truth itself in the hearts of this and future generations. We must always maintain a noble vision and be vigilant in protecting the American dream by guarding our Constitution, our national security, and the hearts of our children.

The vital challenges immediately before us include securing our borders, confirming judges loyal to the Constitution, bringing federal spending under control, and defeating the ominous ideology of terrorism. These are the things that I have and will continue to work for as your Congressman.

It is an honor to serve as your representative in Congress, and I encourage you to send me your views and input on issues of vital concern to you. The American ideal is worth it all.

Most sincerely,

Congressman Trent Franks
