COURT'S CHARGE ON PUNISHMENT

NOV 16 2007 EB

MEMBERS OF THE JURY:

TIME 9:50 AM
BY EB DEPUTY

The Defendant, STEPHEN LANCE HEARD, has been found guilty by you of the offense of Capital Murder, and you will no longer concern yourselves with the guilt of the Defendant. You are instructed that a sentence of imprisonment in the Institutional Division of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice for life imprisonment without parole, or a sentence of death is mandatory upon conviction of capital murder. In order for the Court to assess the proper punishment, certain special issues are submitted to you. Before answering these special issues, if you can, you will consider the following instructions:

I.

In arriving at the answers to the special issues submitted, it will not be proper for you to fix the same by lot, chance or any other method than by a full, fair and free exchange of the opinion of each individual juror. You are instructed that in answering the special issues, you may take into consideration all the facts shown by the evidence admitted before you in the full trial of this case and the law as submitted to you in the charge.

II.

The State has the burden to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the answer to Special Issue Number 1 should be "Yes". The jury may not answer Special Issue 1 "Yes" unless the jury agrees unanimously on such answer.

The prosecution has the burden of proving that the answer to Special Issue Number 1 should be "Yes", and it must do so by proving a "Yes" answer to Special Issue Number 1 beyond a reasonable doubt, and if it fails to do so, you must answer Special Issue Number 1 "No".

In the event you have a reasonable doubt as to whether the answer to Special Issue Number 1 should be "Yes" after considering all the evidence before you, if any, and these instructions, you will answer Special Issue Number 1 "No".

The jury may not answer Special Issue Number 1 "No" unless ten or more jurors agree. The jurors need not agree on what particular evidence supports a "No" answer. If any juror has a reasonable doubt as to the answer to the above Special Issue, the juror shall vote "No" as to that issue. The jury may not discuss or consider the effect of failure of the jury to agree on the answer to an issue.

If the jury answers Special Issue Number 1 "Yes", then you shall answer Special Issue Number 2; otherwise, do not answer Special Issue Number 2.

In deliberating on the issues submitted, the jury shall consider all evidence admitted at the guilt or innocence stage and the punishment stage, including evidence of the defendant's background or character or the circumstances of the offense that militates for or mitigates against the imposition of the death penalty.

III.

SPECIAL ISSUE NUMBER 1:

Do you find from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that there is a probability that the Defendant would commit criminal acts of violence that would constitute a continuing threat to society?

ANSWER "YES" OR "NO" in the space provided on Page 6 of the Charge.

IV.

SPECIAL ISSUE NUMBER 2:

Taking into consideration all of the evidence, including the circumstances of the offense, the Defendant's character and background, and the personal moral culpability of the Defendant, do you find from the evidence that there is a sufficient mitigating circumstance or circumstances to warrant that a sentence of life imprisonment without parole rather than a death sentence be imposed?

ANSWER "YES" OR "NO" in the space provided on Page 7 of the Charge.

The jury shall consider mitigating evidence to be evidence that a juror might regard as reducing the defendant's moral blameworthiness.

The jury will answer Special Issue No. 2 "Yes" or "No." The jury may only answer Special Issue No. 2 "No" if they unanimously agree, and the jury may not answer this issue "Yes" unless ten or more jurors agree.

If the jury returns an answer of "Yes" to Special Issue No. 1, and an answer of "No" to Special Issue No. 2, the Court shall sentence the Defendant to death. If the jury returns an answer of "No" to Special Issue No. 1, or an answer of "Yes" to Special Issue No. 2, the Court shall sentence the Defendant to confinement in the Institutional Division of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice for life imprisonment without parole. A Defendant sentenced to confinement for life imprisonment without parole is ineligible for release from the Department on parole.

V.

In a criminal case the law permits a Defendant to testify in his own behalf but he is not compelled to do so, and the same law provides that the fact that a Defendant does not testify shall not be considered as a circumstance against him. You will, therefore, not consider the fact that the Defendant did not testify as a circumstance against him; and you will not, in your retirement to consider your verdict, allude to, comment on, consider, or in any manner refer to the fact that the Defendant has not testified.

VI.

You are instructed that if there is any evidence before you regarding the Defendant's having committed offenses, wrongs, or acts other than the offense for which he has been convicted in this case, you cannot consider said evidence for any purpose unless you find and believe beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant committed such offenses, wrongs or acts, if any were committed, and even then you may only consider the same in determining the appropriate answer, if any, to the special issues presented in this charge, and for no other purpose.

VII.

It is your duty to consult with one another and to deliberate in an effort to answer the special issues based on these instructions if you can do so. Each of you must decide the case for yourself, but only after an impartial consideration of the evidence with your fellow jurors. During your deliberations, do not hesitate to reexamine your own opinions and change your mind if convinced that you were wrong. But do not give up your honest beliefs as to the weight or effect of the evidence solely because of the opinion of your fellow jurors, or for the mere purpose of answering the special issues.

VIII.

You are the exclusive judges of the facts proven, if any, of the credibility of the witnesses, and of the weight to be given their testimony, but you are bound to receive the law from the Court which is herein given, and be governed thereby.

In deliberating on this case, you shall consider the charge as a whole and you must not refer to or discuss any matters not in evidence before you.

You must not consider nor mention any personal knowledge or information you may have about any facts or person connected with this case which is not shown by the evidence. You shall not consult law books or anything not in evidence.

You are charged that it is only from the witness stand that the jury is permitted to receive evidence regarding the case, or any witness therein, and no juror is permitted to communicate to any other juror anything he or she may have heard regarding the case or any witness therein, from any other source than the witness stand.

IX.

When you have arrived at your answers to each of the special issues, if any, you shall use the attached forms provided at the end of these instructions.

Should the jury desire to have any or all of the admitted exhibits delivered to the jury for your deliberations, your foreperson shall so notify the Court in writing and the requested exhibits will be delivered.

Any further communication with the Court must be in writing signed by your foreperson through the bailiff. Do not attempt to talk to the bailiff, the attorneys or the Court regarding any question you may have concerning the trial of the case.

Criminal District Court Number Three
Tarrant County, Texas
