Attorney General Greg Abbott needs your help to find Child Support Evader Amy Dorow, one of the Most Wanted Child Support Evaders in Texas. Dorow, who was named a Child Support Evader in May 2004, owes $12,697 for the care of her two young sons living with their father in Denton. Dorow has turned her back on her sons by refusing to provide financial assistance they need for a good start in life.

Because of her actions, Dorow is wanted by the law for failure to pay child support.

In August 2000, Dorow was ordered to pay $303 a month for her two children's care. When she failed to make a single payment, the Attorney General's Office took Dorow to court. At the November 2001 hearing, the judge increased Dorow's payments to $350 a month to cover current support and payments she had missed, and ordered she return to court at a later date to report her compliance. Dorow failed to appear at the hearing and a civil arrest warrant was issued.

In addition to the civil charges, in September 2003, a Denton County Grand Jury indicted Dorow on criminal nonsupport charges. Due to missed payments and interest that accrues on unpaid child support, Dorow now owes more than $12,000 in unpaid child support.

Law enforcement and Special Enforcement Operations investigators from the Attorney General's Office have searched the state for Dorow, who is covering her tracks to avoid arrest. She may be using aliases of Amy Minnis, Amy Rhine or Amy Durrow to hide her identity. Contact the Attorney General's Office at 1-866-EVADERS (382-3377) to report information that may lead to the arrest of Amy Dorow.

The Child Support Evaders on the most wanted list are being singled out because they have the ability to take responsibility for their children, but refuse to do so. Incarceration is the only option for parents who flagrantly ignore a court's order to pay child support. The Attorney General's Office helps parents who lack the ability to pay child support by referring them to job training and employment services.
